BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us, ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—See article of the Civil Service Gazette.

H. H. THE NIZAM'S STATE RAILWAY ADVERTISING AT RAILWAY STATIONS

THE PROPRIETOR of the Bombay Gazette Press, having leased from the NIZAM'S STATE RAILWAY Company the exclusive right of advertising at all the Railway Stations belonging to the Company, is prepared to contract with parties de sirous of posting notices or advertisements on the lines.
The Cantonment of SECUNDRABAD, as is well known, contains the largest military garrison in India—a garrison comprising over 5,000 British and native troops. Contiguous to it is the Cantonment of BOLARUM, garrisoned by two regiments and one battery of the Hydrabad Contingent, all officered by Europeans. South of Secunderabad, about 4 miles are the suburbs of Hydrabad, containing the Nizam's regular troops, about 5,000 in number, officered mostly by Europeans—besides a large civil population. It would manifestly be advantageous to firms to advertise at the stations on the above railway, the most important of which are SECUNDRABAD, HYDRABAD, GANGAWARUM, and TANDUR.
The announcements may be in English or in any of the NATIVE LANGUAGES.
INSURANCE COMPANIES, SHIPPING COMPANIES, HOTELKEEPERS, MERCHANTS, TRADERS and others who wish to force their business on the notice of the public, all alike value the privilege of Railway Station Advertising.
There is no reason why the privilege should not be also specially valuable to Advertisers in Indian Looking to the great and increasing number of Native Railway Passengers on the two trunk lines on Western India, Native Merchants, Traders, &c. seeing that they have the privilege of advertising in their own language, would find the publication of their announcements at Railway Stations an infallible means of extending their business.
Advertisers can select the Station at which they wish their Placards posted, and may advertise for any period that may be agreed on. The charges have been fixed on an extremely moderate scale to encourage Advertisers to make a liberal use of the new means now offered of making announcements known to the public.
Placards, according to the taste of Advertisers may be printed at moderate charge in ENGLISH or any of the NATIVE LANGUAGES at the Bombay Gazette Press. Estimates on application.

This advantage will be at once seen by all Singers.

GWILYM EVAN'S QUININE BITTERS.
IMPORTANT TO ALL.

IT IS generally admitted that the climate of India is trying to all constitutions and we have much pleasure in calling attention to one of the simplest, yet most effectual, preparations yet dispensed. We refer to

GWILYM EVAN'S QUININE BITTERS.

THIS preparation has been before the public for many years and has steadily gained in popular favour. These Bitters contain a suitable quantity of Quinine in each dose, combined with the active principles of other well-known medicinal plants, viz., Gentian, Lavender, Burdock, Sarsaparilla, Saffron, and Dandelion, mixed scientifically and in happy proportions, thereby forming a Tonic Bitter positively unequalled.
The QUININE are not recommended to cure "all ills that flesh is heir to," but they are strongly recommended as a bracing, invigorating, and agreeable "pick-me-up."
The QUININE BITTERS give tone.
QUININE BITTERS strengthen the system.
QUININE BITTERS improve the appetite and make a man feel that he has nerves of steel.
QUININE BITTERS give new heart and "go" to all who have lost strength and spirit through long illness, such as fevers or constant residence in hot countries.

LUMINOUS PHOSPHORUS.
Important to Invalids!

H. & T. KIRBY & CO.'S PREPARATIONS possess the vitalizing and energizing properties of this Drug in a state of great activity. The Phosphorus being retained in them unoxidised, it is quickly assimilated and, if taken daily with food, supplies the brain and spinal cord with its proper Pabulum.

In this form it is powerfully remedial, effecting cures in apparently hopeless cases, after all other medicines had failed, particularly in LOSS OF NERVE POWER, as manifested by INCAPACITY FOR WORK, WANT OF ENERGY, LOWNESS OF SPIRITS, NEURALGIA, MENTAL DEPRESSION, MELANCHOLIA, FEEBLE DIGESTION AND CIRCULATION, COLD EXTREMITIES, NIGHT SWEATS, WEAK HEART, LOSS OF PHYSICAL VIGOUR, and NERVOUS DEBILITY. For these and all other conditions indicating defective nutrition or exhaustion of the nervous centres, whether arising from overwork, the effect of climate or excess, Medical authorities all agree that PHOSPHORUS is the most effectual remedy.

The following preparations, of which we are the ORIGINAL Makers, are thoroughly reliable. They may be obtained from our appointed Agents (see below); in Bottles, 3s., 5s. and 10s. each (English marks), the 10s. Bottle containing sufficient for a course of three weeks. Two 10s. Bottles may be obtained direct from the makers' laboratory, carriage paid to any post town in India or Australia, by remitting Post Office Order for 21s.

SIMPLE PHOSPHORUS PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY'S Formula, No. 5), containing 1-25th gr. Phosphorus.
Dr. KIRBY says: "Experience fully warrants the administration of Phosphorus in this dose" in severe attacks of Neuralgia and cases of extreme Nervous Exhaustion; it gives excellent results, taken with food three or four times a day.

PHOSPHORUS AND QUININE PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY'S Formula, No. 3), containing 1-50th gr. Phosphorus.
This is a valuable combination of two powerful restoratives. As a nerve tonic it gives power to the brain and spinal cord, imparts tone to the digestive organs, increases functional activity and improves the condition of the whole system. It is largely employed in India during convalescent stages of intermittent and remittent fevers. It is an excellent remedy for Malaise induced by the climate, and is a good prophylactic against Malaria.

PHOSPHORUS AND IRON PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY'S Formula, No. 7), containing 1-50th gr. Phosphorus.
This is given with great advantage in Anæmia, Sciatica, and other Neuralgic affections, also in the treatment of convalescence from fever and other debilitating diseases. It is an excellent chemical food for anæmic children, and a good adjuvant to a course of cod liver oil.

PHOSPHORUS AND NUX VOMICA PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY'S Formula No. 6), containing 1-33rd gr. Phosphorus.
This combination is useful in all the cases named above, but especially in cases of feeble digestion and loss of power, following excesses. Taken regularly with food for a few weeks it has a powerfully renovating effect on broken-down constitutions.

PHOSPHORUS, QUININE AND NUX VOMICA PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY'S Formula, No. 4), containing 1-50th gr. Phosphorus.
The use of this combination will be gathered from what has been said of the previous Formulæ, Nos. 3 and 6.
For a similar combination with Iron, see No. 9.

COMPOUND PHOSPHORUS PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY'S Formula, No. 9), containing 1-50th gr. Phosphorus, with Iron, Quinine and Strychnia.
This combination of nerve tonics has a very large application It is efficacious in all disorders in which are characterised by impoverished blood and diminished nerve power, especially in that low condition of the general health which is induced by overwork, dissipation, and excesses of various kinds. In this state iron and phosphorus is strongly indicated. In Constitutional Syphilis it has a high remedial power, by improving the condition of the blood and by stimulating its regenerative power. It is exceedingly energising and strength-giving. As a tonic for convalescents recovering from fever and other exhausting diseases it is unequalled.

STRONG PHOSPHORUS, IRON, QUININE AND NUX VOMICA PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY'S Formula, No. 17), containing 1-25th gr. Phosphorus.
This is double the strength of No. 9 as regards Phosphorus and Quinine, and therefore should be prescribed only in cases where the larger dose of Phosphorus is needed.

PHOSPHORUS, CANTHARIDES & NUX VOMICA PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY'S Formula, No. 20), containing 1-33rd gr. Phosphorus.
This pill produces no irritation of the gastro-intestinal mucous membrane, but operates as a gentle stimulant to the genito-urinal organs. It is especially useful in premature failure of power, induced by passive discharges due to debility. It is useful also as a stimulating remenagogue in obstinate cases of Amenorrhœa, Leucorrhœa, and Atony of the Uterus.
Formula No. 30 contains Iron, and as a tonic is most suitable for feeble, anæmic females.

For fuller particulars of other Combinations, Medical Men are invited to apply to the Agents for descriptive pamphlet, supplied free of charge.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.

CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

From Symes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemists, Medical Hall, Simla, January 5, 1880, to J. T. Davenport, Esq., 33 Great Russell-street, Bloomsbury, London. "Dear Sir,—We embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the widespread reputation this justly esteemed medicine, Dr. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne, has earned for itself not only in Hindostan, but all over the East. As a remedy of general utility, no matter whether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are happy to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and judging from their sale, we fancy their sojourn there will be but transient. We could multiply instances of the extraordinary efficacy of Dr. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne in Diarrhœa and Dysentery. Spasms, Cramps, Neuralagia, the Vomiting of Pregnancy and as a general sedative, that have occurred under our personal observation during many years. In Choleraic Diarrhœa, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera Morbus, it has never failed to give immediate and perfect relief, even in the most desperate cases, when the system appeared to be thoroughly prostrated and powerless to react. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's from a firm conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of opinion that these imitations of any other than Collis Browne's is a DELIBERATE BREACH OF FAITH on the part of the CHEMIST TO PRESCRIBER AND PATIENT ALIKE. We are, sir, faithfully yours Symes & Co., Members of the Pharm Society of Great Britain, His Excellency the Viceroy's Chemists."

CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was, undoubtedly, the Inventor of Chlorodyne; that the story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, which, he regretted to say, had been sworn to.—See "The Times," July 13 1864.

Sold in bottles at 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each. None is genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.

CAUTION.—Beware of Piracy and Imitation. Sole Manufacturer—J. T. DAVENPORT, 33, Russell's Street, Bloomsbury London.

DR. DE ROOS'S COMPOUND RENAL PILLS

Are a safe and speedy Remedy for the above dangerous complaints, Discharges and Diseases of the Urinary Organs generally, which too frequently harass the sufferer over the best years of life, and end only in an agonizing death. For weakness across the loins, sandy or other deposit in the water, and in all cases of renal or urinary disturbance, they are, indeed, unrivalled. They correct aci dity of the stomach, promote the functions of the liver and kidneys, thereby preventing stone in the bladder, &c. Many complaints, long supposed to be nervous, often arise solely from contamination of the blood with certain impurities which should have been carried off by the kidneys. Thousands of testimonials from grateful patients attest their marvellous efficacy. In packages, 2s. 9d. and 4s. 6d.

DR. DE ROOS'S PILULÆ VITÆ, OR VEGETABLE LIFE PILLS.

The most wonderful Pills in the world for Biliousness and all Disorders of the Liver, Stomach, and Bowels. Their action is mild yet effectual; they do not gripe or purge, and for habitual costiveness, loss of appetite, disturbed sleep, harassing dreams, wind, indigestion, sick headache, furred tongue, unpleasant taste in the mouth on rising in the morning, sallowness, scurvy, &c., they are of unexampled efficacy; and being prepared solely from the vegetable kingdom, may be taken by the most delicate of either sex, equally with the robust, merely regulating the dose according to the printed directions accompanying each box.

Those who are subject to occasional attacks of Biliousness instead of resorting to the old-fashioned blue pill and nauseous black draught, will do well to keep a box of these Pills by them, and never leave home without them; an attack may thus be nipped in the bud by taking a dose or two, which, if allowed to run its course for a few days, would probably almost completely prostrate its unhappy victim. Sold in boxes at 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s.

DR. DE ROOS'S WORLD-FAMED GUTTÆ VITÆ, OR LIFE DROPS.

The Great European Remedy for Spermatorrhœa, Exhaustion, Nervousness, Debility, Incapacity, Loss of Memory, and all those diseases for which Mercury, Sarsaparilla, &c., are not only employed in vain, but too often to the utter destruction of the sufferer's health. To the people of India, and similar enervating climates, as also all those who by indiscretion in early life, have ruined their constitutions, this miraculous life-reviving tonic will give, as it were, a new existence. This medicine strengthens the vitality of the whole system, gives energy to the muscles, speedily removes nervous fears, renovates the impaired powers of life, and gradually invigorates the most shattered constitution. Equally adapted for the studious and sedentary, the aged and infirm; the nervous and debilitated; as also for delicate females and weakly children. All sufferers from loss of appetite, nervous headache, lassitude, and despondency—too often accompanied with suicidal thoughts—should make immediate and fair unprejudiced trial of this wonderful medicine, which is daily effecting the most remarkable cures in patients who have been given up by the faculty. In all cases of nervous and functional debility (arising from whatever cause), it is truly unrivalled. To married persons, especially, this preparation will prove invaluable, giving strength and vigour in place of lassitude and incapacity.—Price, 11s., or four times that quantity, 33s. per bottle, of all the principal Merchants in India.

Purchasers are particularly requested to see that every package of Dr. De Roos's Medicines bear the British Government Stamp, with the words, "WALTER DE ROOS, LONDON," impressed thereon in white letters on a red ground, without which none can possibly be genuine.

ADVERTISING
RAILWAY STATIONS.

THE Proprietor of the "BOMBAY GAZETTE" Press, having leased from the
G. I. P. RAILWAY COMPANY,
The NIZAM STATE RAILWAY,
AND
The BHOWNAGAR-GONDAL RAILWAY COMPANY

The exclusive right of advertising at all the Railway Stations belonging to these Companies, is prepared to contract with parties desirous of posting Notices or Advertisement, on the lines.

The announcements may be in English or in any of the Native Languages.

The advantages which Railway Stations present as a means of bringing intimations of all kind before the public have been demonstrated in England by the extensive use which is made by Advertisers, of every station, great and small, along every one in the United Kingdom.

INSURANCE COMPANIES, SHIPPING COMPANIES, HOTELKEEPERS, MERCHANTS, TRADERS and others who wish to force their business on the notice of the public, all alike value the privilege of Railway Station Advertising.

And as nearly ALL TRAVELLERS ARRIVING IN INDIA NOW LAND AT BOMBAY and proceed by Rail, Placards exhibited at the different stations are every day becoming more and more valuable as means of bringing the Advertisers' business to the notice of the public.

On the NIZAM STATE RAILWAY the Cantonment of Secunderabad, as is well known, contains the largest military garrison in India, a garrison comprising over 5,000 British and native troops Contiguous to it is the Cantonment of Bolaram garrisoned by two Regiments and one Battery of the Hyderabad Contingent, all officered by Europeans. South of Secunderabad, about four miles, are the suburbs of Hyderabad containing the Nizam's Regular Troops, about 5,000 in number, officered mostly by Europeans, besides a large civil population. It would manifestly be a source of profit to firms to advertise at these Stations, the most important of which are Secunderabad, Hyderabad, Gangawaram and Tandur.

Orders for exhibiting Advertisement Boards on the B. B. and C. I. Railway Stations will also be received at this Office.

RATES.

Boards not exceeding 2 feet long and 2 feet broad Re. 1 per month. For every additional square foot annas 2.

Thus a firm exhibiting a board, say 4 feet square, will have the advantage of having their Business Advertisement read by thousands of passengers on one station platform for the trifling monthly expenditure of Re. 1. Parties advertising on six stations or more will be allowed a discount of ten per cent.; on twelve stations or more twenty-five per cent.

Special arrangements for long periods.

The boards to be delivered at the "BOMBAY GAZETTE" OF

PARSEE EXHIBITS IN PARIS.—The Figaro writes:—"Durant une visite a l'exposition des Indes Anglaises, M. Carnot a reçu une notice magnifiquement imprimee et renfermee dans un coffre en bois de santal, incruste d'ivoire, qui lui a ete offert par deux Parsees, MM. Ardeshir et Byramji. Cette notice donne l'historique de la Tour du Silence qui sert de cimetiere aux Parsees de Bombay, et dont le modele reduit est expose au Champ de Mars. Les Parsees, adorateurs du feu, n'enterrent ni ne brulent leurs morts. Ils sont deposes dans la Tour du Silence, separes par sexes, et ce sont les vautours qui se chargent de la disparition des cadavres. Des canaux, remplis de poudre de charbon, laissent passer toutes les infiltrations en les purifiant. C'est une curiosite que tous les voyageurs, y compris le prince de Galles, ont visitee a Bombay."

ANOTHER DARING NIGHT ROBBERY.—The shop of a dealer in butter, named Marooti Babajee, on the ground-floor of a house on the Bhendy Bazaar Road near by the Nabob's Masjid was broken into on Wednesday night last, entrance being gained by removing two wooden bars of a window facing a sweeper's gulley at the back. A cash dox was forced open and its contents, consisting of Rs. 10 in small change, stolen from the shop. The thief or thieves made a hole through a stone wall into the adjoining shop kept by a Memon and thence stole a gold ring and Rs. 11 in small change, which were kept in two open boxes, and also 25 gold embroidered caps from a shelf. It appears that about 3 o'clock on the morning of Thursday Police Constable No. 1485, while on duty at Nizampoora, saw a man sneaking along the sides of the lane near his post, and as the sepoy advanced towards him the man turned round and ran away, throwing 17 gold embroidered caps and a small iron crow-bar down. The sepoy followed him up and raised a cry of "Thief, thief," but the man escaped through some of the narrow lanes. The 17 gold embroidered caps have been identified as part of the property stolen from the Memon's shop. The police are instituting vigilant enquiries into the matter with the aid of the Detective Police. On the same night an attempt was made to break into the shop of Rampursud Mathuradas, a native confectioner on the Tardeo Road, by removing a quantity of tiles from the roof of his shop, but the shop was not entered owing to the thief being disturbed by some of the inmates of the house.

He in a fit of rage abruptly left the meeting and went away, greatly displeased with the conduct of the merchants.—Deccan Herald.

THE DIAMOND CASE.

At the High Court yesterday, the Hon. Mr. Justice Parsons resumed the hearing of a suit brought by one Leon Mosk, a foreigner, to recover from Dinshaw Nowrojee the sum of Rs. 4,000 for thirty-five diamonds purchased from him by the defendant. Mr. Starling and Mr. Jardine, instructed by Messrs. Roughton and Byrne, appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Lang and Mr. Inverarity, instructed by Messrs. Ardasir, Hormusjee, and Dinshaw, appeared for the defendant.

Framjee Cowasjee, who was examined as a witness for the defendant on Thursday, was cross-examined by Mr. Starling: I received a summons and I came here to give evidence. I did not tell any one of my having seen Mosk living in the house opposite to my shop. The defendant had come to make inquiries, and on his asking me, I told him what I knew, I don't know how defendant came to know that Mosk and Rigoletta lived in our houses. Defendant lives in our neigabourhood at Gowalia Tank Road.

Kera Ramchunder, examined by Mr. Inverarity, said: I am a partner in the Marwaree firm of Tulka Mura and keep a shop in Cursetjee Sooklajee Street, Camatesepoora. I know Mosk and Rigoletta.

His Lordship said he thought it right to mention that that morning somebody came to his bungalow and sent in a card with the name R. Schwartz. His lordship thought she was the witness Rigoletta Schwartz and refused to see her. It was highly improper for a witness to call upon a Judge.

Witness continued:—On 3rd May 1882 they borrowed Rs. 120 from my firm and Rs. 6 were added for interest. A promissory note was executed and signed by them both. They were then living in Camatesepoora 14th lane. We were paid for that note. I used to go to their house, and the saheb and the madam used to pay three or four rupees at a time. Mosk used to purchase at our shop kerosine oil, coffee, sugar, &c. I have got an account of articles supplied to Mosk and Rigoletta in 1887-88. I have lent money to Mosk and Rigoletta on several occasions. (Produces entries in his account-books.) On the note produced in court a suit was brought in the Small Causes Court, and I got a decree against plaintiff in the name of Leon Planskei. When I asked him his name, he told me it was Planskie. The note was signed Planskei. I got a decree in the suit, but my partner went to execute the decree.

Cross-examined by Mr. Starling: My partner, who went to serve the summons and to execute the decree against plaintiff, is now gone to his native country. I have been in Bombay sixteen years. About a fortnight ago I saw Mosk in Camatesepoora going along the road. He now lives at Tardeo. Since the levy of an attachment, I have had no money transactions with him.

To the Court: When I supplied to Mosk the articles mentioned in this account, he was living in a bungalow at Tardeo which is not very far from my shop.

Lewis Francis Gonsalves, a clerk in the French Bank, said he knew the plaintiff. On the 28th August 1886 a draft for £158·2 was bought by Rigoletta Schwartz in favour of Leon Planskei. Plaintiff had come to the bank two or three times with Rigoletta to enquire about rates of interest on deposits. The credit draft in respect of the amount was endorsed by Rigoletta Schwartz, New Foras Road.

Cross-examined by Mr. Starling: In 1887 I saw plaintiff on the bank premises with a friend. He came to enquire if the bank would grant draught on Port Said, Constantinople, and other places. Plaintiff himself never bought a bill; but those who came with him did so. Whenever plaintiff came to the bank with Rigoletta, he used to stay outside. They came to inquire about rates of interest. She had several times deposited money in the Bank. The first deposit was made after she bought the bill. That was about the middle of 1887. She had made between half a dozen and a dozen deposits. I once read in the newspapers that L. Planskie was dued in a police court and mentioned the matter to people in the bank.

Mahomed Ladak Nensey knew the plaintiff, who had come to Nensey Khairaj's house about the bungalow at Tardeo. He spoke about the matting. Rigoletta did not come with him. The bungalow was let to plaintiff, and Rigoletta paid the rent. Witness collected the rents. He had seen plaintiff in Rigoletta's bungalow twelve or thirteen times. He had seen there about forty times. He had seen plaintiff taking his meals there with Rigoletta. He sometimes saw him with coat and hat on, and sometimes without them. Witness first saw him in the bungalow ten or twelve days after it was let.

Cross-examined by Mr. Starling: About the letting of the bungalow plaintiff and Rigoletta came three times to Nensey Khairaj's office in the Fort. Witness had heard persons call plaintiff by the name L. Moski. He went at different times to collect rents. He saw plaintiff taking meal with Rigoletta at 12 o'clock in the day. He had seen him taking meals with Rigoletta six or seven times. Sometimes they were alone, and sometimes Amelia was with them.

Esoo Babajee, in the employ of Nensey Khairaj, was employed in the Tardeo bungalow and lived in the compound. He knew the plaintiff. Since Rigoletta came to live there, the plaintiff had been living there. Witness had been employed in the bungalow for the last ten months, and he had always seen the plaintiff there. He had daily seen him there. He used to be in the bungalow during the day time and to leave after his meals in the evening. Witness could not say when the plaintiff returned to the bungalow, as he was generally in the early morning. Witness was in the bungalow on the 24th ultimo, when an attachment was made of property in the bungalow. Plaintiff and Rigoletta were in the house on that occasion.

Mr. Inverarity: Do they drink in the house?

Witness: Yes, they drink too much and make much noise. Plaintiff used to get drunk and to beat us. We are obliged to obey his orders.

Cross-examined by Mr. Starling: I live in the Tardeo bungalow near the kitchen room. I received a summons in this case about four days ago. My master brought me with him to this Court. It was a vakil's office. I made no statement there. Nobody came to see me at the Tardeo bungalow last Sunday. I remember Rigoletta's coachman washing the carriage on Sunday last. Another coachman was there, but he did not speak to me. My sett came to the bungalow that evening on his way to Mahaluxmee. A Parsee was with him, but it was not the defendant. The Parsee is not here. He did not speak to me. My seth told me to come to the firm's place of business in Khoja Moholla. It was, he said, on some Government business. I did not go to the firm's place of business on Monday morning, as the madam told me not to go. The Parsee who came with my sett on Sunday paid me no money in the presence of Rigoletta's coachman. I don't know the Parsee. He asked me if Mosk lived there. I did not tell the coachman—"I don't know which side to take." The bailiff came to the bungalow to attach property three or four months ago. Every four or five days in the afternoon, plaintiff used to get drunk and to beat the maliees. My master's order is to obey him. I complained to my master. Plaintiff is in the habit of beating all the servants. It is only the plaintiff who gets drunk in the bungalow. There is no other drinking in the bungalow.

To the Court:—I don't fetch things or carry messages for people in the bungalow.

Siddoo Makan said he was for about six months in the service of the madam at the Tardeo bungalow, but had now left the employ. Plaintiff lived in the bungalow during the six months. He used to take his meals in the evening and to go away. Madam Rigoletta used to pay money to plaintiff, and he used to pay witness. He left the service because the saheb (plaintiff) used to get drunk and to beat him.

Cross-examined by Mr. Starling: I was not discharged because they said I got drunk, I left the service of my own accord.

Nusserwanjee Cowasjee, a bailiff of the Small Causes Court, served a summons on Leon Planskei in a bungalow in Arthur Road, the bungalow in which Rigoletta lived. Witness afterwards went to execute the decree that was passed in the suit. The endorsement on the summons was made by him at the time. He attached goods in the same bungalow in respect of the decree. Both Rigoletta and plaintiff were in the bungalow at the time. Rigoletta produced the money to be paid to witness, but he refused to receive it. He said that the money should be paid by the defendant in that suit, and it was accordingly paid to him by Planskei.

Cross-examined by Mr. Starling: On the occasion I went to execute the decree, plaintiff was pointed out to me by Tulka Mula. Rigoletta came out, asking me what it was. Plaintiff was taking his meal inside. I spoke to her in Hindustani, which she understands as well as English. The attachment was for Rs. 229-13-2. Rigoletta brought the money from inside the house and offered to pay me, but I declined to receive it from her. She paid it to plaintiff, and I received it from his hand.

Re-examined by Mr. Inverarity: I showed the warrant to plaintiff after I showed it to Rigoletta. Plaintiff was present when I attached the goods and sat down. He then told Rigoletta to fetch the money.

Dhunjeesha Framjee, a Small Cause Court bailiff, was next called.

Mr. Inverarity: Do you speak English?

Witness simply nodded his head amidst general laughter.

Mr. Inverarity: There is nothing to laugh at. (To witness.) You speak some English, but not properly.

Witness to interpreter: I cannot speak English properly. (A laugh.)

Witness continued: I went to execute this warrant against the plaintiff at the Tardeo bungalow. I arrested him. Rigoletta and Amelia, whom I saw in court yesterday, were present. Rigoletta put the money into plaintiff's hands, and he paid it to me.

Mr. Starling declined to cross-examine the witness.

Esoofali Mahomedali, examined by Mr. Inverarity: I sold some furniture to plaintiff, for the price of which I afterwards sued him in the Small Causes Court. It was in August or September 1888. It was worth about Rs. 300. Plaintiff told me to take it to the bungalow at Tardeo. I gave some furniture at the Tardeo bungalow; and on another occasion, I delivered some furniture at Gilder Street. There were three women in the Tardeo bungalow, Rigoletta, Amelia, and another. When plaintiff separated from Rigoletta, I got him the Gilder Street bungalow, where he went to live with one of the women. When I went with the warrant I found him again at the Tardeo bungalow. I executed the warrant by arresting plaintiff at the Tardeo bungalow. He paid the money which he brought from the madam in the bungalow. He bought furniture from me on more than one occasion. It was by his order I took the furniture to Gilder Street.

Charles Powell, a native Christian, examined by Mr. Inverarity, said: I know plaintiff and Rigoletta Schwartz. I have known them about six years. They lived in 15th Camatesepoora Lane. I taught Rigoletta English and used to write letters for her. I used to teach her English in the Tardeo bungalow also. I remember the execution of this promissory note. I was sent for. I saw there plaintiff, Rigoletta, Amelia, and the defendant. I was asked to write a draft of this note. Defendant had been drinking that day. There was liquor on the table. Neither of the documents was dictated to me by defendant. He was sitting on a sofa. He was not able to get at the table to sign the documents without the assistance of plaintiff and Rigoletta. Both were signed at one and the same time. They had both been written out beforehand. I saw no diamonds there. I did not see Mosk give any diamonds to defendant, nor the latter give any to Rigoletta. Defendant was not in a fit state to understand the contents of the documents, nor were they read over to him. After leaving Camateseopora, plaintiff and Rigoletta went to live in Foras Road. In August 1888, plaintiff and Rigoletta, who were living together at Tardeo, had a quarrel, and I was sent for. Rigoletta wanted to leave the house. I took her to Mr. Dinsha Davar, who was consulted, and after the consultation, plaintiff went to live at Bellasis Road with Oliveira. He made up with Rigoletta in the latter part of December 1888. By direction of Rigoletta, I made an endorsement on this Government note. Rigoletta paid no money to defendant at the time. The endorsement was scratched out, and the note was returned to defendant the following morning.

His Lordship said he thought it right to mention that that morning somebody came to his bungalow and sent in a card with the name R.

BREAK UP OF THE ANADYR.

VERY rough weather was experienced in the Harbour of Aden on the 16th ultimo, and on the 17th the sunken Messageries Maritimes steamer Anadyr broke in two just forward of the funnel, and now lies with her stern half lifted to starboard, and the forward half to port. All hopes are, of course, now abandoned of raising her, for which purpose a staff of French engineers and divers were on their way out from Marseilles.

THE following is from a contemporary:—"In a recent case of defamation against a native newspaper in Bengal, one of the witnesses, a pundit of celebrity, who boasted of his thorough aquaintance with the Hindu Shastras, was asked if it was un-Hindu to eat beef. The pundit first answered in the positive, but when asked to cite the Shastra in which beef was forbidden, he failed, and even afterwards made the contradictory assertion that beef was actually eaten by the ancestors of the present race of Hindus in classic times. The pundit's assertion may lead to the consumption of beef in the Lower Provinces by Hindus, in spite of the anti-cow-killing movement of Sriman Swamy."

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

FRIDAY EVENING, AUGUST 2.

PRIVATE messages under yesterday's date call Silver unaltered at 42⅜d. per oz., which quotation is tardily confirmed by Reuter. Rupee securities were ⅛ per cent. higher for Fours, at £67⅞, and 1-16 up for 4½ per cents., at £69 11-16d. Consols were unchanged, at 98⅛; but Indian Sterling Loan was ¼ per cent. lower, at 107¾. French Rentes in Paris remained at 84½; but Exchange on London was two centimes higher, at francs 25·16.

The Weekly Returns of the Bank of England show a decrease in the Bank's reserve of one per cent. since the previous Wednesday, making it stand at 37 per cent. of the Liabilities. The Bank rate remained at 2½ per cent., and the market rate discount at the enhanced quotation of 3 per cent., but for short London Bills Reuter quotes a further advance of ⅛ per cent., thus confirming, in this case also, the private advices which we gave last evening. The weekly specie shipments to Bombay consisted of £130,000 in Silver and £50,000 in Gold.

The Wheat Market was unchanged in the other side yesterday; and in Mincing Lane there was no alteration in Oil Seeds, and Coffee was steady.

Cotton in Liverpool closed firm after a larger day's business than had been for some time, the total sales having aggregated 14,000 bales, inclusive of 2,000 Surats. A general rise in spot prices took place, Mid-American being quoted 1-16d. higher at 6¼d.; while in Surats, Oomra, and Dholleras of all grades, "Fine" Broach, and "Good" Hingunghat advanced to the same extent. American Arrivals, however, were unchanged in all positions. The Manchester Market was firm in sympathy with Cotton.

There was no change to speak of in New York, however, spot Mid-Uplands being still at 11 5-16 cents, and September futures at 10·19 cents, August futures being quoted 3 points higher, at 10·66 cents. The Reciepts at the U. S. Ports were again nil.

A small business has again transpired in our local Cotton Market, the total purchases from stock having hardly reached 500 bales, of which 300 were Oomra, at Rs. 213; and the balance Wadwan, at Rs. 213-20; and Compta, at Rs. 218 per candy. A few fresh contracts have been reported in new "Good" Bengals, for January delivery, at Rs. 180½ per candy; and in "Fine" for December, at Rs. 204; and we hear that European buyers have booked a line of "Good" Broach, for March delivery, at Rs. 233, and "Fine" at Rs. 251, a portion having been done last night.

The Wheat and Seed Markets have been closed to-day on account of a Hindu holiday.

The Receipts of Produce into Bombay yesterday were as follows:—

Cotton	907	bales.
Wheat	13,754	cwt.
Linseed	6,178	„
Rapeseed	20,098	„
Poppyseed	1,063	„

FREIGHTS continue dull and declining, with rates somewhat uncertain in the absence of transactions, no fresh business having transpired to-day.

EXCHANGE opened steady, with sellers of Bank Telegraphic for forward transfer at 1s. 4¼d., at which a little was given for next year; but this rate was soon lost, and we closed with a quiet feeling, with remittance quoted for forward delivery the same as ready; and credits at three months' sight at 1s. 4 7-16d. for August-September and 1s. 4 15-32d. further forward.

Bank Bills on demand	1s. 4¼d.	per rupee.
Do. Telegraphic	1s. 4 7-32d.	„
Do. 3 months' sight	1s. 4 5-16d.	„
Credits do.	1s. 4 7-16d.	„
Francs do.	1·73	„

GOVERNMENT PAPER.—Closing last evening with buyers at 100 5-16, Four per cents. have been weak and declining, 3-16 per cent. below the above quotation having been named throughout the day for cash, and the same rate for the next account with sellers thereat, the September settlement having been quoted at 99 15-16. For Four-and-a-half per cent. Paper 103⅞ is now the nearly nominal quotation.

SHARES.—There has been rather more doing in Mill Shares to-day; but in every case where we make a change in our quotations it is again in favour of buyers of this scrip. New Great Eastern shares have declined Rs. 15, say to Rs. 685, and all the following are Rs. 5 lower, say, City of Bombay Manufacturing at Rs. 1,090; Colaba Land and Mill, at Rs. 695; Framji Petit, at Rs. 550; Jevraz Balloo, at Rs. 1,005; Luckmidas Khimji, at Rs. 1,000; Manockji Petit, at Rs. 1,250; and Swadeshi, at Rs. 375. Bombay-Burma Trading are Rs. 25 higher, at Rs. 3,575, for the first issue, and Rs. 10 up for the others, at Rs. 900. Bank of Bombay shares are Rs. 2½ higher, at Rs. 965 per share.

THE INDIA OFFICE ON STERLING LOAN.

It is said that the India Office has pronounced strongly against the Indian Government raising further sterling loans in England owing to the uncertainty about exchange. The future policy will be only to raise sums in sterling sufficient to cover the actual expenditure in England itself in such matters as the purchase of railway plant, material, stores, munitions, and the like. The rupee loans, therefore, will be the rule until a greater stability in exchange is manifest.

AMERICAN COMPETITION IN THE MARRIAGE MARKET.

(FROM OUR LADY CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, JULY 12.

There are signs—not in the sun and in the moon and the stars—but in the streets and shop windows and squares, that the season is on the wane, and the society world of London coming to its periodical ending. An astounding crop of black boards with huge white letters has sprung up to indicate that family mansions, desirable residences, and even modest self-contained flats are "to let." Ominous bills of sales and sacrifices hide the beauties of our shop fronts. Dulness reigns over theatredom. "Closed for redecoration" is the legend that appears everywhere except at the few places where experimental matinees are gone through for the sake of those votaries of the drama whose real life is the unreal life of the stage, or those popular houses that revive stock favourites when the country cousin comes to town. The floating village on the Thames has also disappeared, and houseboats, dismantled of their finery and their flower-pots, are being towed down to dull winter moorings. Brightly and pleasantly the time has slipped by—the season's gaieties culminating in the Royal Pageant—the little jubilee rechauffe, served up with new and piquant accompaniments to suit the cultured taste of His Eastern Highness.

And now we are free to talk of business—of the little speculations that have been tried successfully—the bargains in the matrimonial market that have been made—the sales, exchanges, barters, and profits all round that have been effected. Of course, the Royal bargain is the greatest sensation. If gossip makes princesses' ears to tingle like ordinary mortals, how irritated the bride-elect must be since that day at Ascot when her lover took courage to propose.

Royal courtships have their disadvantages—they have to be played out before the curtain—they have no quiet asides—no behind-the-scenes—Mrs. Grundy is always there looking on and ready to report. Every one is told of everything that happens. But in the Princess Louise of Wales's little affair there was unusual reticence shown. Nobody, not even the Duke of Cambridge, was confided in until it was all arranged. Court ladies, of course, try to make out now that they saw it all, but were too discreet to tell. Oh admirable discretion! or admirable women rather, who preferred to sacrifice the little bounties given by Truth or the Court and Society journals for interesting intelligence rather than attract the keen eye of the public to the sight of a royal romance.

The same discretion still is the order of the day—gossip runs riot, but the only authenticated facts are that the twenty-seventh is the day, Buckingham Palace chapel the place, the time afternoon, the ceremony semi-State. Rumour adds that it will not be a very fine wedding; but with the Queen and the Shah, the German Empress, French ex-Empress, and princelings galore it will surely be something worth looking at. The bridesmaids will all be Royalties—the Princesses Victoria and Maud, the two daughters of Prince Christian, the little daughter of the Duchess of Albany, and the Princess Alex of Hesse. The bridegroom's present, a tiara of diamonds, is being manufactured in London, as is also the intended gift of the Shah, which, we are told, will be something marvellously beautiful. Paris, London, and Dublin are to share the glory of making the trousseau, on the design of which the Princess of Wales is using her own exquisite taste. Everything points to a happy conclusion to this, the great love affair of the season. It only remains for the sun and St. Swithin to make amicable arrangements for the 27th as a good omen for the bride's future.

Though all ordinary marryings sink into insignificance before the unions of Royalty, the interest in weddings high and low is still above any other, and news of them is always welcome. A marriage is arranged to take place in October between Miss Manning, niece of the Cardinal Archbishop, and Sir William Millar, who has lately been received into the Catholic Church. The ceremony, at which the Cardinal will assist, will take place at the Brompton Oratory, and is expected to be a very grand and impressive function. The bride-elect, a very tall, fine-looking debutante of this season, will be attended by six bridesmaids still younger than herself, dressed in white with pale blue pongee scarves and wreaths of forget-me-nots under their long tulle veils. The bride's gown, ivory satin, draped with antique lace, will be charming.

The Figaro says that "un assez grand nombre d' adorables Yankees" pervade Paris, and we can say also, though perhaps not so prettily or mellifluously, a quite large enough number of adorable Yankees are here, too—quite large enough to eclipse our woman-kind—quite large enough to dazzle our men. From everywhere we hear ravings of their beauty, their grace, their smart sayings; and though we are an amiable and hospitable race, we feel we must draw the line somewhere, and this is where our young men begin to show symptoms of dementia.

This was the state of affairs, according to a correspondent, that took place in our hereditary legislative assembly lately. A beautiful creature in white silk, attended by a female in dull brown, who, in addition to her duties of chaperone, combined admirably the qualifications of a foil, was the universal attraction in the gallery of the House of Lords. Dukes gazed, bishops scrutinized, earls stared, and the Lord Chancellor even could not withstand the temptation of craning out to have a good view of the syren whose charms lured the House from its serious consideration of the Land Transfer Bill—so interesting was her pale, elegant, and somewhat coquettish face. In profile she looked twenty—in three-quarter face, twenty-five; but her full face, says the enchanted reporter, might possibly reflect the light (why not the shadow, oh poetic representative of the press!) of forty summers. The dazzled chronicler goes on to relate how she cast her eyes hither and thither with curiosity and without flinching (evidently she was not vain enough to limit the spectators to the view of her twenty-year-old profile), and bore the scrutiny of more than two hundred peers with the composure of a monumental statue. (Here I am curious to know what degree of composure is affected usually by monumental statuary; also what are the marks that distinguish a monumental statue from an ordinary statue of serious views?) At last she gracefully rose and swept out of the House with all the dignity of an Eastern princess. Who was the little lady? The chronicler does not add that the Chancellor, the dukes, the bishops, the earls, and the counts followed her to the door and tipped the porter to find out. But some one did; for he adds: "It was the Duchess of Marlborough. Fresh from Manhattan Island."

Only the enervating weather can be accountable for the state of mind of the average young Briton when interviewing interesting young America. Another fit of wild raving comes on at the mention of Mrs. Chambers, who, as authoress of the "Quick, and the Dead," made her maiden name, Amelie Rives well known to the public. Besides her gift of genius, she is otherwise so admirably endowed. Such an El Dorado of golden hair; such eyes of grey blue; such dark pencilled brows, and such rich lashes! And then such winning manners, such free unaffected ways, such a fascinating ensemble, that we poor daughters of England feel quite out of the running.

But the worst is that it is not only the average Briton, but even the extraordinary foreigner, who falls a victim to the charms of the maidens born under the shadow of the Stars and Stripes. Joachim Napoleon, Prince Murat, has lately had a seizure of the American love fever, and in the autumn he will take as second wife Miss Gwendoline Caldwell, a young lady who is beautiful, clever, aged twenty-six, and a devout Roman Catholic. Prince Murat's choice of an American wife is not to be wondered at, as he is, on the side of his mother, Miss Caroline Fraser, half American, and was born and educated in the States. His first wife, Princess Maley de Wagram, is dead about five years. He has two daughters and a son—a nice little step family, who are, luckily for Miss Caldwell, all settled happily for life.

Alas! it is not only in the race matrimonial that we are distanced by American women. In science we also lag a little behind. The name of Miss Maria Mitchell comes to my mind as a proof of how far ahead they have got in knowledge, and also how far ahead America is in appreciation, regardless of sex, of the value of such knowledge. Miss Maria Mitchell, the well-known American astronomer, whose death has been lately announced, is an example that may be fairly quoted of the equality [illegible] and women. As a child she was so talented that she was able to assist her father, Mr. William Mitchell, in his astronomical investigations. When eighteen years of age she was made librarian to the Nantucket Athenæum. At that time, she gave her leisure altogether to making careful original observations and her energies to the examination of nebulæ for comets. In 1847 she discovered which the King of Denmark distinguished with a gold medal and other marks of [illegible] Europe in 1858 and made a observatories. She was elected [illegible] of astronomy in Vassar [illegible] with the directorship of the [illegible] January 1888. Hanover [illegible].D. in 1858 and Columbia [illegible] in Nantucket, Massachusetts, had the distinction of being [illegible]lected to the American Academy [illegible]nces.

A BOMBAY LADIES' ASSOCIATION.

What hidden motive can Dr. Emma Brainerd Ryder have for coming to India, and so suddenly pressing upon the women of the country the necessity of forming themselves into a society by which they may bring about mutual improvement, hold literary discussions, social meetings, and have dinners, at which toasts will be pledged as men are accustomed to do, and to which meetings and convivial gatherings, nothing of the masculine gender shall be admitted? Such is one of the queries over which many amongst the Hindoo population of Bombay shake their heads. They cannot understand why women should be instructed to behave like men, look their doors against men, while they passtheir time socially or in debate. They cannot understand why a lady like Dr. Ryder should travel so far, merely for putting such novel notions into the heads of Indian girls. But such is not wholly Dr. Ryder's idea; and her motive, which is no hidden one, is easily explained. In New York, twenty-one years ago, a woman's literary society was formed, and it was so successful, that the idea not only soon spread throughout the whole of America, but across the Atlantic to England, all through Europe, and, in fact, almost all over the world. London was made the centre of a World's Association, connecting all the other associations and branches of associations throughout the world, so that each might keep in touch one with another, and learn how each association was progressing. From this it will be seen that those associations, formed for the mutual improvement of their members, were also able, through being, as it were, all chained together, helping on each other in their work also. Not only that, but at stated periods a delegate is sent out from the World's Association on a tour round the world, visiting the various societies, cheering them on, and advising them and reporting to London on her travels. Thus it was Dr. Ryder came to India. Having a large and extensive practice as a physician in America, and being overworked, she found she required a change of climate and of work—of work, because, although overwrought in her profession, she is not a lady who could remain altogether idle. Her heart being full of the subject of higher education for women, and her only regret being that the inauguration of societies in India and China were only required to complete the chain throughout the entire world, she considered she might, in her travels, visit both those countries, and see if she could do anything towards forging the missing links.

Dr. Ryder set sail and was fortunate enough to come into contact with a learned lady of Bombay, the Pundita Ramabai, who told the doctor of the work she carried on for child-widows. The two ladies laid their plans and first visited China, a country which they found in a sad state so far as female education was concerned. Nothing was done for them in this way at all. In Japan how different it was. The Japanese were found to be far advanced. At Tokio, in Japan alone they addressed an association meeting of over five hundred ladies. Now they had reached India, were carrying on the work in Bombay and notwithstanding the difficulty in getting many to understand what is really meant by the forming of such association, the doctor has not met with anything to discourage her. Indeed, she has found the very opposite, for at the very first meeting she got between forty and fifty names of ladies willing to become members. But what moves her to work is, that on looking over the ground, and considering the condition of the people, and the position native women hold to men, the great help such an association would be to them, developing their minds, making them fit for society, and so improving the condition of the whole country.

What Dr. Ryder wishes first of all is to instil into the minds of natives that such an association as she proposes to form is for their benefit, and that it is for their benefit also to strive to make it a success, to form it, to uphold it, and to work hard to strengthen it. It is also her desire, to awaken an interest in the work amongst the many European ladies who are constantly arriving in the city from home, and they coming forward, and showing their interest in the much-needed education of India's women by joining the association, will, it goes without saying, do very much towards drawing out the people Dr. Ryder wishes to get at, and she does not see why they should not come forward. Education was making vast strides in India. A great deal was done for the education of girls as well as boys,—so different from what she had seen in China; and she had been very much surprised by what she had seen in her visits to the various schools in Bombay. But a Women's Association was wanted if women were to have the necessary higher education—a post graduate course it might be called. The younger members would, by hearing papers read on interesting subjects and discussions upon them, be brought to conceive a taste for literature, to study literature, and then to write themselves. Although it will not be a political society, the members will be made acquainted with Parliamentary usages, and so be enabled to carry on debates with some method. By way of variety they should have social meetings every quarter or so, and, perhaps, a general dinner once a year. Such is the mode upon which were founded the associations in America, where the idea was first conceived and the bodies organised, and it has been found to have worked successfully, as the recent international Congress at Washington showed, on the occasion of what might be termed the coming of age of the movement, when female delegates from England, Canada, France, Germany, Italy, Austria, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Japan, and, of course, the United States appeared. The idea of excluding men from their gatherings is due to no selfish motive. It is considered judicious for this reason. It is girls and young ladies whom Dr. Ryder particularly wishes to draft into the association. It is to make thorough good women of them which is her aim. Many might imagine that by the exclusion of men Dr. Ryder is one of those women who think her sex are gifted with quite as much brain power as men, that they ought to be voted into seats in Parliament by enfranchised women, that they ought to be allowed to don the wig and mount the woolsack, and, in short, have all the same privileges as men. Dr. Ryder does not wish that women should adopt the habits, the pursuits, and professions of men. She wishes to make women of women and not allow them to sleep out an existence of drudgery, idleness, and ignorance; to take the place as fitting companions to men, which they were created for, and to be no passive companions either, but such, having their minds developed, as may have a tendency to aid their husbands in their own daily pursuits.

His Excellency Lord Reay has worked heart and soul, and done, how much it would be difficult to tell, for the promotion of technical education in India. But that has only had to do with the education of the sterner sex, and much progress it has made. What will he say when he learns of Dr. Ryder's project for technical education of women, or girls rather? Yet such is her intention when once this literary or mutual improvement association has been formed—it has not yet been given a name—it is her intention to set about seeing what she can do for technical education amongst females. Mental education is all very well, so is the study of literature, but it is only the highly-gifted who can live on literary pursuits. Dr. Ryder has visited many of the schools in Bombay, and, as already stated, although she was much surprised to find how far advanced they were in the education of girls, a proper system of domestic economy was wanting. She found them being taught simple sewing, but that alone will not teach those to earn a living, whose circumstances in the future may require them to, nor were they taught anything which would enable them to become good housewives. To teach women to work then is one of Dr. Ryder's aims, to work to earn a living other than by the degrading drudgery so much seen in this country. Dr. Ryder has not long to remain in India. Her stay is limited to only a few months; but she is earnest in the noble work she has undertaken, and the progress made so far is encouraging her. Her only difficulty is in getting natives to understand that she has no hidden motive for what she is doing, no motive beyond the earnest desire to see her own sex throughout the whole world educated to that level which will make them fit for society and fit companions for men. This is indeed a consummation devoutly to be wished for. Who will deny what an ennobling influence a good woman has on man. Thomas Otway, addressing women, said: "Nature made thee to temper man;" and it is very true. Let, then, the ladies of Bombay, young and old, both European and Native, come forward and give Dr. Ryder the support she deserves, helping her to weld the link that is necessary to make the world's chain complete, taking for their motto, "earth's noblest thing, a woman perfected," and success is certain.

THE SOLDIER'S BEER.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

POONA, AUGUST 1.

While the subject of the soldier's beer is being agitated a good deal at this moment, it is necessary to hear the brewer's side of the question, so I send you a short description of the Deccan Brewery of Messrs. Meakin and Co., the gentlemen who supply country beer to the soldiers and the beer they make. It has been decided these many years that the soldier should have an allowance of beer, and it being discovered that a great saving would accrue to Government by having the beer brewed and supplied in India, tenders were called for this purpose and Messrs. Meakin and Co.'s contract was accepted. This firm had previously carried on business in the Punjab, and their new system answering well, it was decided to introduce it into this Presidency, where the troops had been receiving their beer through the Commissariat. In 1883 Messrs. Meakin and Co.'s tender to supply the Bombay troops with beer was accepted, and a condition imposed that the firm should establish a brewery in the Presidency. The old Government House at Dapuri and its estate was purchased for several lakhs, as being the best site, as Poona is the head-quarters of the Presidency Army. Old Dapuri Government House with all its associations of the Governors before Sir Bartle Frere and subsequently of Dr. Diver was pulled down and the present solid building of stone was erected on the site. A flag staff and the square stone tower, some eighty feet high and a conspicuous object for miles around, seem to reproduce something of the grandeur of the old buildings which have been removed. The drive to the brewery is a very pleasant one of six miles from Poona. It is over a good road, and is claimed to be one of the pleasantest in Poona.

As has been stated above, the brewery is a large one-storied stone building, and around it are scattered the offices, residences of European assistants, godowns, and other out-houses. Before entering the brewery the visitor is shown round the grounds and first shown the workshop filled with lathes, drilling and shearing machines, and the like, and then taken on to where the coopering is in vigorous process. Ho must be surprised to find that the coopers are all natives from Northern India, and still more astonished to learn that they are considered the best workmen in this particular line, preferred even to the Parsee cooper. They come from the Punjab, and are described as quiet, sober, industrious, and intelligent men. The wood used for the casks—Trieste oak—has to be especially imported, as no Indian wood has been found to meet requirements.

From the cooperage, after passing through the godown stocked with enormous vats and smaller casks, the visitor is conducted to two large clear spring wells which supply the water for brewing. The water is pumped up into what are known as false-bottomed tanks at the top of the stone tower, and from thence pour into carbon filters and thence into a large oak vat.

On returning to the brewery he passes an ebony tree, the only remaining evidence of Dr. Diver's scheme for converting the Dapuri estate into an immense botanical garden. The malt used in brewing, and now he comes to the Brewery proper, comes chiefly from Delhi, where the firm has very extensive maltings, a portion also being imported from Burton-on-Trent, while the hops are procured from Kent, Bavaria, New York, and California. Californian hops, it seems, are preferred as being best suited to India. The malt on reaching the brewery is thoroughly dried in steam-heated machines, and then, after being cleansed, the grain is passed through a self-acting weighing machine into the crushing mills. From these crushing mills the ground malt finds its way through a screw conveyor into a large vat, the one already referred to, and here, being thoroughly mixed by machinery, the pulpy mass falls into the "mash tun," a large steam-heated iron vessel. After being boiled here for some hours with the temperature properly regulated, all the liquid is drained off into a large copper tank holding some 5,000 gallons. The residue left after this draining process is completed is what is known as "grains" so largely used for milch-cattle feeding. In the copper cauldron or tank the liquid mixes with the hops, and being boiled once more for a couple of hours, it is passed through a strainer to separate the hops, and is then pumped into a smaller iron tank to cool. The liquid, in order to be reduced to a proper temperature, is passsed over a refrigerator—a series of tubes which contain iced water. When quite cold, the fluid is conveyed by pipes into the fermenting vats, which are girded by long coils of copper pipes containing cold water to keep the beer so as to enable the process of fermentation to go on at a low temperature. Yeast is added here, and the beer afterwards goes through one more process, where the yeast is separated from the liquor, and the latter is filled into casks preparatory to being sent out for consumption. The details of the brewing has not been minutely followed, but that is needless.

It only needs be pointed out that the machinery used in this brewery is of the latest type. Almost everything is of the best material and some of the machines deserve particular notice, especially the self-acting weighing machine, which records the quantity of malt it deposits in the crushing machine. The majority of the machines are from Burton, and one can well credit the statement that the whole plant costs over seven lakhs and that the brewery is able to turn out about 20,000 barrels a year. The management is entirely in European hands, and there are employed during the year between 600 and 1,000 men. All the brewers connected with the firm are men with Burton experience and are good chemists, as extracting the starch from prepared grain and then converting the starch into spirit is a nice chemical process.

The strength of the beer is strictly laid down in the contract entered into with Government, at 1,062 specific gravity, the proportion of alcohol being about 6 per cent.

Some time ago, in referring to Mr. Meakin's beer, Mr. Caine, M.P., wrongly described its alcoholic strength as being 11·5 per cent, probably having confounded its "proof-spirit" figure, which was given in the excise reports as 11·5 per cent., with its alcoholic strength. The beers, it will thus be seen, are practically of the same strength as the English imported beers.

Messrs. Meakin and Co's. firm has a capital of about Rs. 22,00,000 in the business, and in connexion with this brewery have very extensive maltings at Delhi. During the year about 100,000 maunds of barley and 160,000 lb. of hops are used. This extensive concern is but a portion of the property owned by this firm, who have, in addition to this Deccan brewery, one at Dalhousie, one at Simla, another at Kasauli, in the Punjab, others at Chakrata and Ranikhet, in the North-West Provinces, and a fifth at Darjeeling in Bengal. With such means at their command, the company can well contract to supply the British troops in Northern India and in this Presidency. If the other breweries possess such modern appliances and are so evidently well managed as the Deccan concern, the firm can with no difficulty retain the field against competitors. For the past twenty years the firm has been supplying malt liquors to Government. In 1864 Mr. Meakin first came out to India and took up the Darjeeling brewery, which had been in private hands and had failed, and worked it up and then gradually extended his business. He is still proud to relate that in those days his beer—as indeed it is reputed to be now—was preferred to English beer and had often been mistaken for its English rival. The beer the soldier gets in India now is declared to be better than ever he got before.

A WAIL FROM A DAK BUNGALOW.

For me they slew the aged fowl
And called it "curry-bhat,"
And though I thanked them with my lips,
I cursed them with my heart;
For I have fought with fossil fowl
From Indus to Pegu—
Listen, Cantonment Magistrate,
I yearn for something new.

O! murder not the youngling goat
And call it "mutton-i-chop,"
And bring me not the "cushtard tart,"
With black and dirty top.
For I have broused on fare like this
From Cutch to Kitmandu—
Hear me, Cantonment Magistrate,
I long for something new.

Procure a staff—a supple cane,
And call the kitmadgar,
And on his aged shinsexplain
What proper dishes are.
For we (I speak of thee
Who come from Delhi or Abu)
Observe, Cantonment Magistrate,
Desire all something new.

It may be in a sumptuous mess,
Or more palatial club,
Or by a wife's commanded hearth
You eat superior grub.
Thrice-lucky man, but give a thought
'Twixt soup and coffee o
The vagrant band which tramps the Land
And asks for somethin new.

MR. OMMANNEY AND THE PARSEES.

The following requisition, which is signed by about five hundred representatives of the Parsee community, was sent yesterday to Sir Jamsetjee Jeejeebhoy Bart., C.S.I., C.I.E., at Poona, to convene, at an early date, a public meeting of the community, to protest against Mr. Ommanney's note:—

To Sir Jamsetjee Jejeebhoy Bart, C.S.I., presidens; Sir Dinshaw Manockji Petit, Knight, Framji Nasservanji Patel, Esq., Cursetji Furdunji, Esq., Muncherji Hormasji Cama, Esq., trustees of the Funds of the Parsee Panchayat.

"Honourable Sirs,—We, the undersigned members of the Parsee community, respectfully request that you will, without any further delay, take the necessary steps to free it from the thoughtless and unjustifiable aspersions which have been cast upon it by a responsible officer of the Government of Bombay in an official document now published to the world under the authority of the Secretary of State for India, and laid on the table of the Commons House of Parliament. It is superfluous to point out to you that the unwarranted reproach levelled at the community in the aforesaid document is a gratuitous and utterly groundless attack on the hitherto unblemished reputation of the Parsees for good conscience, integrity of purpose, and sense of justice. Although it cannot but be recognized that it is merely the reckless accusation of an individual for which Government cannot be held responsible, still as it has been officially forwarded by the Government of Bombay to the Secretary of State for India and published to the world under the implied sanction of the latter's authority, it devolves upon the community to call upon those high authorities to declare that they view with disapproval the said accusation.

We are aware that as the result of the deliberation of a few individuals a letter was recently addressed by Sir Dinshaw Manockjee Petit to H. E. Lord Reay, and a reply made to the same by his Lordship. This communication cannot be regarded as an adequate vindication of the wholesale and public impeachment of the Parsee community, and, however, gratifying are the sentiments expressed in the reply of Lord Reay, they cannot be viewed as expressing that disavowal of Mr. Ommanney's impeachment, which the Parsee community have a right to expect from the Government of this Presidency.

For this purpose we request that you should in the course of the next week, or at an early a date as practicable, call a public meeting to express opinions on the aspersions and charges, which have been levelled against our community by Mr. Ommanney, a Member of the Civil Service of India, and Inspector-General of Police in the Bombay Presidency, and to resolve upon the necessary action to give the Government of Bombay and H. M.'s Secretary of State for India an opportunity to declare that they have neither adopted, accepted, nor sympathized with those opinions and charges, and that they view the same with displeasure.

The requisition is signed by Dustoors Peshotun Byramjee Sunjana, Jamaspjee Minocherjee Jamaspasana, and Cursetjee Feroz Mulla Pherozs, High Priests of the Parsees; Mr. Nusserwanjee Jehangeer Wadia, Dr. Cowasjee Hormusjee, Messrs. THE MUNICIPAL SWEEPERS' STRIKE.

A number of the Municipal sweepers assembled on the Maidan yesterday again waiting to see how their fellow-workmen fared when they offered to return to their duty, several of whom were allowed to resume there work; but it appeared evident that they did not perform their duties with their customary zeal, only returning to recoup themselves, or to do some further mischief amongst the loyal ones. It appears they are still stricken with superstition and evil omens. After a large number had turned to work in the A and B Wards, one of their saddoos got a sheep, and slaughtering it on the public road performed some sort of an offering, making use of some incantations, which appeared to have amongst his believers, that immediately it was brought to their knowledge more than one-half of those that had already returned to duty left. The Municipal authorities are still determined to stick to their decision and not to give in to the men who have caused so much trouble. It is remarkable that the last strike of the Municipal sweepers was amongst the whole body of them—Mahars, Maharattas, and Mahomedans, but the present strike is solely amongst the Mahars and a very few of the Maharattas. The new gang of men who were brought down to Bombay to fill the places of the discontented ones, were mostly found perfect strangers to Bombay and to the work, involving a considerable amount of trouble to the subordinate officers of the Municipality. However, a good number of the new men have already been enrolled in the list of the sweepers. The Health Officer and his assistants are unceasing in their efforts to settle the question of strikes for the future by rendering every assistance to carry out the work in the city in the most satisfactory manner although short-handed.

Yesterday at the Girgaum Police Court Luxumon Wittoo and Sia Balloo, municipal sweepers of the E. Ward, Cammateepoora, were charged by Khan Bahadoor Meer Abdool Ali, Superintendent of the Detective Police, before Mr. R. Ryan, with maltreating Maria H. Pereira, and one Babajee the former a municipal clerk of the E. Ward at Cammateepoora and the latter a sub-inspector of the Municipality attached to the same ward, on Wednesday afternoon last while in the execution of their duty. The two accused were convicted and fined Rs. 20 each, with the alternative of fourteen days' rigorous imprisonment. Peetha Heera and six other municipal sweepers of the F Ward, Parel, were then brought up on remand and charged by the same police officer of the detective, before the same Magistrate, with criminal intimidation in respect of a maltreatment that Essee woman, also a Municipal sweeper attached to the same ward, received at the hands of the seven accused on Tuesday morning last, by dragging her out of her house, by seizing her sarree, and threatening to assault her and her husband if they did not strike work and come on to the maidan with the rest of them, while they had no intention to strike work. Gainee, woman, and another were examined for the prosecution, and corroborated the statement made by the woman Essee, the prosecutrix, in every material point. The accused in their defence said they were all willing to return to their work, but denied having abused the prosecutrix of their own free will, but were instigated by others to do so, and Essee's husband was one of them. The Magistrate in disposing of the case remarked that there was no doubt that the accused were ill-advised by some ignorant and illiterate person to act in the manner they have done, and through their unwarrantable behaviour the sarcar have been put to considerable inconvenience and trouble. The accused were not justified in acting in the manner they have done. They were all convicted. Peetha Heera and two others were sentenced to fourteen days' rigorous imprisonment and the rest were fined Rs. 10 each, or in default to undergo seven days' rigorous imprisonment.

THE EUROPEAN MAIL SERVICE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

Sir,—On reading your sub-leader in this morning's issue re the alteration in the departure of the Bombay mails to suit the Australian convenience, I venture (having lately arrived from the Colonies) to state the reason why the Australian Governments are pressing for the alteration of the outgoing mail-day. At present the Queensland, New South Wales, and Victorian mails are despatched overland to catch the steamer at Adelaide, which leaves there every Monday, as stipulated in the mail contract. Owing to Sunday intervening (when the railways are at a standstill) all European mails must reach Adelaide on Saturday morning, which is forty-eight hours before the departure of the steamer, the next train arriving twenty-four hours after her departure.

To us Australian merchants it is a matter of indifference what day in the week the mails are despatched, provided they have not to lie about a couple of days in Adelaide needlessly.

The British authorities fixed the dates without consulting the Colonial Governments, as they were determined the mails should arrive in England on a certain day of the week.

It is equally insane to decide on Sunday as the Bombay mail-day as Monday is for Adelaide.

If either the Australian Governments permit Sunday railway traffic or the English Government submit to the mails reaching England on another day of the week, the difficulty will be got over.

Australia threatens to refuse signing the mail contract unless some alteration be made.—Yours, &c.,

Bombay, Aug. 2. A. C. SHADLER.

THE NEW GOVERNOR OF PONDICHERRY.

H. E. Monsieur Nouet, accompanied by Captain Amet, Aide-de-Camp, and Monsieur Guy de Fontjeres, Private Secretary, arrived in all at Pondicherry from by the Messageries Maritimes steamer Tibre, early on Thursday, the 25th ult., and landed the same morning, at 7 o'clock. The customary formalities, says the Madras Mail, were observed in the landing and receiving of the Governor. The port boat in charge of the Master Attendant, and accompanied by the Acting Chief Secretary to Government, put out to the Steamer Tibre, and lay alongside until His Excellency was ready to leave the steamer. Very little time was lost, and at the appointed hour, Governor Nouet stepped on to the pier and took his seat in the train, in which he was conveyed to the land-end, amid the thundering of cannon, and escorted by the Government House Guard of pike-men and mace-bearers, and accompanied by a few of the leading functionaries of the Colony. At the pier-end a very pretty pendal was erected, in which were assembled the Mayor and President of the Municipality with the Members of the Town Council. The Governor, on alighting from the car, took up a position under the pendal, and, after exchanging greetings with the Municipal authorities, the Mayor read an address welcoming His Excellency to the shores of French India, in the name of the people of Pondicherry. The address was short and practical, and Monsieur Nouet's reply was equally brief and to the point. The whole of the troops in garrison, under two European Officers, with band and colour, were drawn up in review on the Place Dupleix and saluted His Excellency, as he passed by on his way to the Hotel du Gouvernment, at which latter place he was met by Monsieur Mathivet, the Director of the Interior, and acting Governor, the chief functionaries, the members of the Elective Councils and other leading residents of the town. After a few short formalities had been gone through the assembled guests were introduced to His Excellency by Monsieur Mathivet, and the proceedings of the morning terminated shortly afterwards. The occasion was observed as a holiday by the public colleges, schools, &c., and with all Government offices; the weather was exceedingly favorable, and the day seemed to be thoroughly enjoyed by the crowds who had gathered together to meet their new Governor. Monsieur Nouet has commenced his rule under particularly favourable conditions; the colony is at rest, and is contented; the political dissensions of by-gone years have to a great extent disappeared, while party rivalries and petty jealousies have died a natural death for want of support. Monsieur Nouet has had about twenty-six years of active administrative experience, the greater part of which has been gained in Indo-China. He was educated at the Military School of St. Cyr in Paris, and proceeded with his regiment to China, and after seeing active service there he joined the Colonial Civil Service, and was for many years Director of the Interior at Saigon, for whence he was appointed as Governor of New Caledonia. His Excellency is fifty-five years of age, and apparently of robust health; he is of middle height, and of a powerful frame; his expression is kindly and sociable, while at the same time it denotes determination. If appearances go for anything, Pondicherry is to be congratulated on its new Governor.

BAGPIPES IN NATIVE REGIMENTS.

We hear that the 30th Bombay Infantry (3rd Battalion Belooch Regiment) has been allowed to use bagpipes instead of fifes in the band of the regiment, writes a contemporary. We have not a shadow of a doubt that the Pathans and Beloochis, of whom the regiment is mostly composed, prefer the savage swell of the pibroch rather than the whistling notes of the fifes. The globe-trotter from Scotland, if he chance to run through Sind, would, perhaps, be startled on a sultry morn, say, in Hyderabad or Jacobabad, to hear the wild music of the slogan within a few yards of him. Melodies that he had been apt to associate with mountain glens and lonely isles, bleak and chilly, would thrill him with sensations beyond the ken of our limited "Border" knowledge. But this is a circumstance unquestionably foreseen by the Beloochis, for we believe that they are fast becoming proficient in the use of this musical wind-instrument, and play nothing else but the wild, stirring, and descriptive airs of Lochiel. As battle-music, there is nothing more inciting to blood-thirstiness than the war-notes made to issue from the bag-pipes, and we hope that the Belooch Battalion will ever meet with the same success in arms that generally attends those who rush into the fray to the savage swell of the slogan. In Byron's words, may "the breath which fills their mountain pipe, so fill the mountaineers with the fierce native daring which instils the stirring memory of a thousand years."

FAMINES AND FAMINES.

Unless the Supreme Government takes the law into its own hands and sends a peremptory order to our revered Lieutenant-Governor to leave the land of indigo and return instanter to the harrowing family in Darjeeling, odds are his Excellency will be detained in Behar for some definite period, writes the Indian Planter's, Gazette. He came up to Behar to view the effects of the drought. All he has so far viewed is sheets of water. They took him to Bettiah where he was received with all the mimic pageantry and barbaric show that native potentates still love to indulge in, and at Motiharee the really respectable body of fine old professional Asiatics, were fed on cooked rice in his Honour's presence, presumably as a sort of famine illustration. An irresponsible correspondent of the frivolous order declares that the moment his Honour left all the recipients demanded bukshish from the Collector for having defiled their interior economy with the inferior rice provided by the contractor. But this is of course a canard. Seriously, so far there is no famine, or danger of scarcity in Behar, unless the unexpected threatening state of the larger rivers ends in what is by no means unlikely, a wholesale flooding of the districts. Since 1871 we have not had such heavy and continuous rain so early in the season and following on a poorish rubbee crop, the entire failure of the coming rice and Indian-corn crops would mean that the Government would have to grapple with serious distress. We state without fear of question that thanks to the thorough opening up of these districts by the erection of the Tirhoot State Railway, actual famine is an absolute impossibility, always provided we have as now an executive of experienced officers who are able to legislate practically and not hysterically with the periodical hard-up crisis, inseparable from agricultural pursuits. Sir Cecil Beadon's famine was a real one, due to want of communication with outside holders of grain, and weakness on the part of the Government. Sir Richard Temple's famine was a swindle from start to finish, but there was an excuse for it, inasmuch as the official mind had the fearful experience of the former catastrophe looming before it like a ghost. Hard times we may often have in the future in Behar, and both ryots, and for that matter, the obnoxious European adventurer, (he doesn't get much help, poor beggar, from a large-hearted Government when after a succession of bad seasons, the agents sell him up, stock, block and barrel) may have periodical failures of crop, but actual famine; No. Post Office and Land Mortgage Banks, if started in Behar and guaranteed by Government, with locally educated men both Europeans and Native on the establishment, would prove gold mines to the projectors and quite sufficient protectors against temporary scarcity. It is not the working class who ever suffer in parlous times in agricultural districts, but the poor, proud, and respectable classes who cannot dig and to whom begging is shame. Loans at low interest will enable these as well as the laborious ryot so tide over bad times, will gradually free him from the bunniah and render famine scares and the waste of public money connected with them impossibilities.

Mr. W. P. Frith makes his moan in a contemporary over the fate that has befallen one of his pictures which was exhibited in the Royal Academy this year. The picture was purchased by a stranger, and now Mr. Frith finds to his annoyance that a representation of his picture with a new title, "So Clean," is performing the part of advertiser to a firm of soap-makers in the pages of the illustrated papers. The artist is now in dread of seeing it reproduced on the hoardings. Moral for artists who can afford to adopt the advice—When you sell a picture reserve the copy-right. After all, Mr. Frith may console himself that the smart advertiser's action is a testimony to his popularity as an artist. The other day "The Road to Ruin" series of pictures was knocked down at a painfully low figure; when "So Clean!" is reproduced, mammoth size, on every London hoarding, it should be some compensation to the artist. Moreover, the public are the gainers. It will be much more pleasant to those who walk the streets to let their eyes rest on Mr. Frith's pretty children than on "The Mystery of a Hansom Cab," and other pictorial horrors.

CRUEL HUSBANDS.

These instances of cruel husbands are bad, but they are by no means the worst, given in the Fortnightly in an article on marriages which have proved failures—the worst cases are too vile and horrible for print. The language given below is quoted verbatim from the official records, without change or exaggeration, and in each instance is given as showing the main, and sometimes sole, ground, upon which the divorce was granted.

FIFTY-THREE CASES IN WHICH WIVES OBTAINED DIVORCE FROM HUSBANDS.

1. "Defendant (husband) sleeps with a razor under his pillow, solely to frighten and distress plaintiff."

2. "Defendant has contracted the opium habit, causing him to wake up in the night, and attempt to kill plaintiff."

3. "Defendant does not speak to plaintiff for months at a time, thereby rendering her life a burden."

4. "Defendant during the past three years has fallen into frequent and causeless rages, and smashed up all the cups and saucers, and other crockery, and household wares in the house."

5. "The defendant is not only this plaintiff's husband, but he is also her uncle. Plaintiff was but fourteen years of age at the time of her marriage with defendant; all of which preys on plaintiff's mind, and causes her great mental anguish."

6. "Defendant made plaintiff climb a ladder to drive a nail in the door. Not liking the way she drove the nail, he lassoed her on her coming down the ladder, tied her fast to the bed-post, stuck sticks and straws in her eyes and ears, and said he wanted to see if she was Dutch. On untying her he threw her into a nest of bees; all of which conduct sorely grieved the plaintiff in her body and mind."

7. "The defendant does not come home until ten o'clock at night, and when he does return he keeps plaintiff (wife) awake, talking, sometimes, until midnight."

8. "The defendant does not wash himself, thereby causing this plaintiff great mental anguish."

9. "The defendant has accused plaintiff's sister of stealing, thereby sorely wounding plaintiff's feelings and causing her mental anguish."

10. "Defendant treats plaintiff with great and unmerited contempt and contumely, having said to her that he did not care whether she left him or not." (The foregoing remark was adjudged to be cruel and inhuman treatment, as it caused mental angaish; a divorce was accordingly granted.)

11. "The defendant after being married twenty-seven years to this plaintiff, said to her, 'You are old and worn out; I don't want you any longer, which remark has caused the plaintiff great mental anguish."

12. "The defendant has been guilty of cruel and inhuman treatment in this: he has not permitted this plaintiff to walk on the streets with her relations; and on one occasion he, the defendant, called this plaintiff a 'rip,' causing her mental anguish."

13. "Defendant has become a sloven, slouchy loafer, causing plaintiff mental anguish."

14. "The defendant is guilty of cruel and inhuman treatment in this: when he suffers financial loss he lays it to this plaintiff, and censures her in bitter terms."

15. "As an instance of defendant's cruelty, plaintiff alleges that shortly after their marriage the defendant began to importune her to deed him her property, which said importuning caused plaintiff mental anguish."

16. "Plaintiff alleges that the defendant rushed towards her in a threatening manner with an uplifted chair, which he smashed to pieces at her feet."

17. "The defendant has forced this plaintiff to open her mouth for the purpose of spitting tobacco-juice down her, the plaintiff's throat."

18. "Defendant compels plaintiff and their daughter to sit up all night without a fire."

19. Verbatim from the judgement roll: "The defendant was guilty of cruelty in not providing a supply of water at his house, and in not repairing said house so as to make it comfortable. Let the decree of divorce be entered on the ground of cruel and inhuman treatment."

20. "When the defendant and plaintiff were at supper some chickens came into the room. The defendant said to this plaintiff, 'Why don't you keep them out?' to which the plaintiff replied, 'I cannot'; whereupon he defendant said, 'You can; if you don't, I'll knock your head off.'" (Upon this testimony, the Court granted a divorce on ground of cruel and inhuman treatment."

21. "The defendant has refused to supply this plaintiff with the necessities of life, declaring that he 'will not work his toe-nails off for any women.' This declaration has caused plaintiff sore mental suffering."

22. "The defendant threatened to mark this plaintiff with a piece of stove-wood; and he did lay violent hands upon her, and then and there bit her in and upon her person."

23. "In this case the wife shows exhibit 'A,' a letter from her husband, the defendant, in which is the following:—'There is a woman here, Mary, whom I love, and with whom I think I could be happy. If you love me Mary, or if you ever loved me, you will do me the kindness to sue for a divorce as soon as possible.' The Court decided that this letter caused the wife sufficient mental suffering to warrant a divorce, upon the usual ground of cruel and inhuman treatment."

24. Defendant is cruel to plaintiff in this: "He never cuts his toe-nails, and scratches her severely every night; especially as defendant is restless in his sleep."

25. From plaintiff's testimony: "During our whole married life my husband has never offered to take me out riding. This has been a source of great mental suffering and injury."

26. "The defendant threw a bottle of vitriol in plaintiff's face."

27. "This plaintiff once had the tooth-ache, and in consequence had two teeth pulled out, when she told the defendant he violently and furiously assaulted her, and choked her black and blue."

28. "The defendant is fond of dogs and hunting; he has treated plaintiff cruelly in this: when he returns from the hunt, he cries, 'down; charge!' and points his whip, whereupon, if this plaintiff does not drop on her knees and imitate the pointing of a dog, the defendant cruelly beats and mistreats her." (The defendant in this case was a wealthy California rancheowner.)

29. "When the plaintiff was sick in bed, the defendant, for the sole purpose of harassing her, said he meant to commit suicide, and did then and there drink a bottle of paregoric, which said action of defendant did sorely grieve plaintiff in body and mind."

30. "When the plaintiff was about to be confined, the defendant ordered her to get up and cook breakfast. Upon plaintiff's refusal on account of sickness, the defendant arose, took the door of the bedroom off its hinges and threw it out in the mud; then he took down three other doors and threw them out; then rolled up all the carpets, and for two weeks kept the house in that condition. The defendant afterwards complained, because in consequence of his said conduct, he was obliged to pay a large doctor's bill."

31. "The defendant threw a lighted lamp at plaintiff's head while she was lying in bed; then he seized her five-year-old son and pitched him head foremost out of the door, nearly killing him."

32. "The defendant sharpened an axe, saying he meant to chop off the plaintiff's head, and he did knock out two of her front teeth."

33. "The defendant threw the plaintiff into the river, from which not she narrowly escaped drowning. Defendant also forced her to eat when she was not hungry; he forced liquor down her throat and once, when she refused to eat, he threw a skillet of hot potatoes at her."

34. "The defendant threatened to cut out this plaintiff's heart and drink her blood. On one occasion defendant, at dinner, thrust a fork through the plaintiff's hand, pinning it to the table."

35. "The defendant locked plaintiff in a closet, and kept her there until 2. a. m. He abused her religion, saying she and the priests were all tied to the image of a bastard. Defendant declared that but for the law he would beat plaintiff so she could not get out of bed for three months."

36. "The plaintiff is subject to sick headaches, that grow worse when she smells tobacco. The defendant uses tobacco, and thus causes plaintiff mental and bodily anguish."

37. "This plaintiff was married to the defendant in 1837, forty-four years ago, and has borne him ten children, but the defendant, forgetting his marital vows, has brought a woman to their house, and lives with her barefacedly before this plaintiff and her ten children."

38. "The defendant has broken plaintiff's nose, has broken her fingers, cut her face and lips, broken two of her ribs, and has wounded her from head to foot, besides chewing her ears and face, until it is dangerous for her to longer live with him." (Yet the laws of South Carolina would not grant even this woman a divorce.)

39. "The defendant threatened to pound the plaintiff cold as a wedge, and he did clutch her by the throat, and pound her head against the wall."

40. "The defendant quotes verses from the New Testament about wives obeying their husbands. He has even, threatened to 'mash' this plaintiff's head and drew back his hand to do it." In the decree, granting this divorce, appears the following:—"I find that when plaintiff was sick, the defendant told her the Lord commanded her to work; the defendant was in the habit of frequently quoting Scripture passages in order to show her that she was to be obedient to her husband." (California considers this "cruel and inhuman treatment.")

41. "The defendant, for the past three years, has been in the habit of kicking this plaintiff out of bed compelling her to seek rest on the floor."

42. "The defendant fancies himself a spiritualistic medium, and declares that he cannot develop fast enough while living with the plaintiff, which declaration of the defendant causes this plaintiff mental anguish!"

43. From plaintiff's testimony: "We lived on the Stillaguamish river. It was sometimes a month before I saw a white person; the only neighbours we had were Siwash Indians. We lived in a wooden house of one room, furnished with a bed of wooden boughs. We did not have even a chair or a stove. I did not complain of this. We had bed-clothes; and I would have been happy, but my husband threw into the fire a little curly dog that was my only companion, and then I broke down. The dog was burned to death."

I think any jury of women will approve of the Californian Court's decision in this case of the curly dog.

44. "After plaintiff's confinement the defendant brought dinner to her bedside. The plaintiff did not feel like eating, whereupon the defendant threw the the dinner at her head, and beat her with his fist."

45. "The defendant has been guilty of cruel and inhuman treatment in this: he has rubbed the plaintiff's face with manure."

46. "The defendant cut off the plaintiff's bangs by force, thereby causing her great mental anguish."

47. "For the past three years the defendant has been in a state of beastly intoxication."

48. "The defendant, in a fit of delirium tremens, threw a hatchet at the baby in the cradle."

49. "The defendant is a Catholic, and turned this plaintiff out of his house, because she refused to give up the Protestant religion."

59. "The defendant came home one night, and mad this plaintiff got out of bed and sit up in one position all night standing by with a knife and a hatchet, and threatening to cut her heart out if she moved."

51. "Defendant is in the habit of pinching the nose of the plaintiff until the nose becomes red, causing plaintiff great mortification and mental anguish."

52. "The defendant refuses to let the plaintiff or her children go to church."

53. "While the defendant was confined to his bed by lameness, he threw cups and saucers at this plaintiff, and threatened to run his crutches down her throat."

While some of these instances (given to show upon what slight ground divorces are sometimes granted in the United States) are frivolous, others show savage ferocity. And when it is remembered that these are but samples selected from thousands of cases as bad or worse, the question may well be asked whether it would be wise or just to compel a union between such discordant individuals? Whether a woman should be made to live with a man who lassoed her, tied her to a bed-post, stuck sticks and straws in her eyes and ears, and then thrust her into a hive of bees to see if she was Dutch? Would not the children who witnessed such treatment of their mother become brutalized? Would they not be better off living with either parent alone?

AMONG THE TEXAS COWBOYS.

A Texan cowboy sends to the Scotchman a sketch of the life he and his comrades lead.

If anyone wishes to have his ideas of what is right and proper thoroughly upset, he writes, let him walk into a Western Court-Room. Nothing is as it ought to be—that is, as it is at home. The judges are without robes, the lawyers without wigs, cowboys with their big jangling spurs, and the spectators generally smoking, chewing, and spitting, and talking, in a quiet way, of course, very much as if they were in their own homes. There is none of the dignity and solemnity of form one associates with the dispensation of justice, and which impresses one with the dignity and majesty of the law. I shall not soon forget the first time I was unlucky enough to be summoned for jury service. District Court was held in a large, bare, low-roofed room, not unlike a barn. At one end was a table and chair for the Judge, in front and facing the Judge were about twenty chairs for the members of the bar, witnesses, and prisoners. To the left two wooden benches made up a very hard and uncomfortable jury box while the general public were accommodated on rows of seats behind the lawyers, and facing the Judge. After a weary six days, I was discharged on a Friday afternoon. One of my partners in the cow business had also been caught, and was sitting in the jury box when I was let off. On looking towards him with a grin of satisfaction on hearing the welcome words from his Honour, "Gentlemen of the petty jury not engaged in the trial of this case, you are discharged for this term of Court," I noticed he seemed anxious to communicate with me. Presently I saw him making a memorandum, so I crept round near him—he was, fortunately, on the end of the back bench of the jury-box—to find out what he wanted. He handed me a cheque, with the verbal request to have it cashed, as he was afraid, from the looks of things, he would not get off during banking hours. I went round to the bank, and returning in a few minutes, handed him the money. All this time, remember, a case was going on. As I reached the door, I turned to take a last look. What a scene! It was the afternoon of a warm sultry day, and the case before the jury, involving the title to some land, was a very dry and uninteresting one. Of the "gentlemen of the jury" on the back bench, three were asleep and three were stealthily reading the newspapers. In the front row, the two lucky ones in the corners of the bench were, with legs outstretched) lazily smoking and, I am afraid, dosing, while the other three occupants of the same bench were staring vacantly into space, and dotting the floor with large and frequent squirts of tobacco juice, while my partner, having in the absence of some of the lawyers secured two chairs lay back on one, his feet cocked up over the back of the other, smoking a large meerschaum pipe—his thoughts evidently fixed on anything but the case before him. Meanwhile the lawyers, coats off and cigars or pipes in their mouths, are on their knees squabbling over a piece of land in dispute, and in turn beseeching the gentlemen of the jury to pay attention and keep their minds fixed on the case before them! It is only fair to say that this occurred several years ago; things are much more decently conducted now-a-days. It is the country Justice Courts that particularly distinguish themselves for marvellous decisions. Here is a sample. I once "happened in" at a neighbouring ranch on the eve of a trial by the local Justice of the Peace. The case was a simple one of assault by one Mexican sheep-herder on another. The evidence was slightly mixed, but, on the whole, the testimony was pretty much as follows:—The two Mexicans had been gambling. One, on losing a large sum, became abusive, and refused to pay, saying that as the winner was only a boy, he could stand him off. A few days after the "boy" lay for the defaulter, attacked him with a seven-foot pole, and came very near killing him. On this evidence, the Justice (i)—it was his first trial and he evidently did not know what to do—fined each of them ten dollars! Rather rough on the man with the broken head!

But of all the funny things that could be told of Western Courts, surely this "takes the cake." Scene—A Justice Court. Present—The Judge, prosecuting attorney, and witnesses. The prisoners, having been engaged in an early morning saloon brawl the night before, have not got up. To fill up the interval, the proprietor of the saloon in which the row occurred, present as a witness, says—"Gentlemen of the Court, let's take a drink." The Judge begins to look serious; the county attorney, however smiles, and "I believe I will" falls from his lips. Whereupon the whole mob adjourn across the street for refreshments.

One does funny things out here sometimes. I once sat on a "corriner's" jury, and another time I found the "deces" came to his death by a Winchester bullet. In justice to myself, I would like to remark that in neither of these cases was I foreman of the jury, and although I believe I dictated both verdicts, I am not responsible for the original spelling.

ORATORY AS A FINE ART.

Sir Morell Mackenzie writes in the Contemporary Review on the above subject. He says:—

In antiquity the training of an orator was almost as elaborate an affair as the training of a race-horse is with us. Not only the voice, but the whole man, physical, intellectual, and moral, was carefully prepared, with conscientious minuteness of detail, for the great business of life, the making of speeches. In this system of education the development of the voice naturally held a large place, and the phonascus, or voice-driller, was an indispensable accessory, not only of every school of oratory, but of many formed orators. Of the methods of the phonascus we know little, but we find hints in some of the classical writers that like certain of his professional brethren in more recent days, he was not disinclined to magnify his office. Seneca, in one of his letters, warns his friend against, living vocally speaking, in subjection to his phonascus, and implies that he might as well keep another artist to superintend his walking. In our own day the phonascus still survives in public life, though perhaps more as a luxury than an acknowledged necessity. A celebrated novelist, dramatic, author, and orator, who passed over to the great majority many years ago, used always to put himself under the guidance of a vocal master before delivering a speech. Every tone, every pose, and every gesture was carefully prepared and industriously practised, under the direction of Mr. Frederick Webster, brother of the celebrated comedian, Benjamin Webster. That the elaborate training of the ancients was eminently successful is shown by the powers of endurance which it is clear they must have possessed. They habitually spoke for five or six hours, and even longer, and, in order to appreciate their staying power, it must be remembered that they spoke in the open air, amid all the tumult of the forum, which was capable of holding 80,000 people, and with an amount and vigour of action of which the gesticulations of an Italian preacher are but a pale reflex. Long-windedness was at one time cultivated as a fine art by Roman orators, when they had to plead before a judge whom they supposed to be in favour of the other side. Those prototypes of our modern obstructionists were aptly termed moratores, or delayers, because they postponed as far as possible the passing of the sentence. The abuse finally reached such a height that a law had to be passed limiting the length of pleadings in public cases to the running out of one clepsydra. It is impossible to say exactly what period of time this was equivalent to, as the water-clocks of the Romans were of different sizes, and the rapidity of flow must have varied under different circumstances; from twenty minutes to half an hour may, however, be taken as roughly representing the average length of a speech under this system of "closure." If the Romans carried the culture of the speaking voice to a pedantic extreme, we, on the other hand, undoubtedly neglect it too much. It is not that we speak less, but that we have less appreciation than the ancients had of oratory as a fine art, and we are, therefore, more tolerant of mumbling utterance and slovenly delivery. Many an inarticulate speaker who, in these days, hums and haws through an hour or two of dreary platitudes, would have been hooted down in five minutes by a Greek or Roman audience. The comparative decay of orators in modern times is due to the diffusion of cheap literature; the function of the public speaker has been to a great extent made obsolete by the daily newspapers. Information and arguments on political matters, which had formerly to be supplied by word of mouth from the rostrums, are now served up, spiced to each reader's taste by innumerable "able editors." But though the necessity for what I may call professional orators no longer exists, a large part of the business of the State in a free country must still be carried on or controlled by talk, and the living voice must always have a power of stirring and swaying popular sentiment—the collective feeling of large masses of men, which is something more than the sum of their individual feelings—far beyond the reach of the pen. John Bright's exquisite purity of style would have made him a most effective writer, but would his great speeches, if cut up into leading articles, have stirred the national heart as did his burning words, thrown red-hot among a living mass of enthusiastic hearers? On the whole, I think we use the voice in public even more than the ancients, and there is, therefore, all the more reason for its being properly trained. Good speaking is now-a-days important, not only from the artistic, but from the business point of view; and, even for practical men, it cannot be a waste of time to acquire so valuable a faculty.

THE BETTER SIDE OF ANGLO-MANIA.

The New York Forum has the following:—

John Ruskin writes in "Præterita" of his own boyhood as follows:—"Next to this quite priceless gift of peace, I had received the perfect understanding of the natures of obedience and faith. I obeyed word or lifted finger of father or mother, simply as a ship her helm; not only without idea of res istance, but receiving the direction as a part of my own life-force, a helpful law as necess ary to me in every moral action as the law of gravity in leaping. And my practice in faith was soon complete; nothing was ever promised me that was not given, nothing ever threatened me that was not inflicted, and nothing ever told me that was not true.

There cannot be found a nobler standard of life for a home than that passage contains, and it arose from the fact that Ruskin's home was taken seriously. The same is true of very many English homes. The home life is systematised and carefully planned. Boys and girls alike are given an allowance, the system of accounts that a man applies to his business he applies also to his household, and the obedience and accuracy he demands in his business relations are accorded him also at home. The peace which comes from faith and obedience in all other departments of life, dwells also in the home, where faith and obedience are the foundation of all intercourse. If it be true, on the one hand, as Heine said, that "England is the place where machines go like men, and men go like machines," it is true on the other hand, that this regularity gives stability, and this business-like arrangement of domestic intercourse gives little opportunity and little cause for embarrassments and the jarring of misunderstandings. The wife's position in the domestic economy and her rights and duties, as well as that of each child and its rights and duties, are clearly defined and rigidly adhered to. The servants know also their duties and their rights, and no more is expected of them; they, on their side, are secure in the laws that each member of the household knows and obeys. The system of marriage and settlements—of distinct and bald statements in regard to all financial intercourse—as to disagreeable, but they make a clean, clear table of relations to one another, and the domestic Ten Commandments are seldom broken. The English people take care of their health, and study not only to make the home peaceful, but to make the individual, so to speak, physically at peace. They plan their work and they plan their play, and take to cricket and tennis and football and hunting the solemnity that they bring to their dinner parties. It is a novelty to us to see how the workers in all departments in England give time and thought to their relaxations. One need only mention the biographies of Darwin, of Arnold, of Robertson, and others to recall to mind the studious way in which these men cared for themselves by repeated and regular outings on the Continent or in Scotland. What was said of English home-life may be justly said of the life of the English as individuals; they take themselves as well as their homes seriously, and hold that physical irregularity and domestic irregularity are no more necessities—of course with exceptions—than is business irregularity. They feed themselves and exercise themselves, and, if one may use the term, "groom" themselves, with the painstaking and thoroughness that they give their horses; and one can hardly say more than that. What seems to us as mechanical life—this systematisation of the home-life, the seriousness with which they devote themselves to out-of-door sports, the regularity of their relaxation, and their loyalty to their own institutions—makes the English people a people of splendid qualities and of glaring defects. The splendid qualities are their reverence, as instanced in the fact that they are a nation of churchmen and a nation of people obedient to their superiors; their stability and courage as instanced by their colonising power, which is quite unequalled by that of any other people; and, lastly, their truthfulness, instanced perhaps best of all by the horror and disgust in which a boy or youth who is known as an habitual liar is held at their public schools and universities.

But they are awkward and dull, and their systematisation of everything not only makes them angular, but gives them the air of superciliousness that always accompanies superficial omniscience. Their stability and persistence make them the slowest and most provincial people west of China. And yet, withal, if one were to choose between the dutifulness of the English and the flippancy of the French, or between the reverence of the former and the frivolity of the latter, or even between the prudery of the one and the salacious gaiety of the other, there could be no question as to which we should choose. When we get down through the provinciality to the truthfulness and seriousness that underlie it; when we imitate the self-restraint at the bottom of their phlegmatic manners; when we get beneath the red coat of the huntsman to the muscles and swift-flowing blood there; when we adopt certain customs of theirs because we see the sound laws of hygiene and personal health that underlie them; when we go to England to admire their composure and their loyalty, and return to imitate these instead of the furniture of their toilet-tables and the awkwardness of their gait and speech; when we base our family life upon the principles and habits that have produced the hardiest pioneers since the days when the Germaan tribes poured into Rome, then we shall be imitating to some purpose. This is the difference between a principle and a fashion, between a mere mania and sanity. The one sees only the surface, wears only the clothes of what it tries to imitate; the other finds out the very qualities of soul beneath these outward manifestations and seeks to possess those. It was not quite accurate perhaps to entitle this article, "the better side of Anglo-mania," because there is no better side to that, the qualities of English snobbery are so many and so salient to the most superficial observer, and so out of place in our own country, that the transportation of them here might almost be forbidden by law, were there danger of contagion among the meutally sound portion of the population. But age has taught the English many lessons that we have not learned, and they know many things that we could receive from them without harm.

MR. RUSKIN'S AUTOBIOGRAPHY.

Mr. Ruskin has just issued, through Mr. George Allen, of Orpington, the fourth chapter of the third volume of "Præterita." It is less interesting than many of the chapters that have preceded it, being largely occupied by a dissertation upon Scottish songs and an essay upon the genius of Scott, with condemnations by the way of the modern fashion of dancing and of high-heeled boots. Of these, by the way, Mr. Ruskin says that they have "distressed alike, and disgraced, all feminine motion for the last quarter of a century,—the slight harebell having little chance enough of raising its head, once well under the hoofs of our proud maidenhood, decorate with dead robins, transfixed humming-birds, and hothouse flowers—for its 'Wedding March by Mendelssohn.' To think that there is not enough love or praise in all Europe and America to invent one other tune for the poor things to strut to!" Much space, too, is given up to his cousin Joanna Agnew (the chapter is named "Joanna's Care"), who married Mr. Arthur Severn, and resides with Mr. Ruskin at Brantwood. In 1864, shortly after his father's death, he conducted her to Denmarkhill, to visit his mother; and she stayed seven years—until she married, indeed.

ANECDOTES OF CARLYLE.

"Joanna's" first conquest (Mr. Ruskin writes) was almost on our threshold; for, half-an-hour or so after we had reached Denmark-hill, Carlyle rode up the front garden, joyfully and reverently received as always; and stayed the whole afternoon; even (Joan says) sitting with us during our early dinner at five. On another occasion, after he had been to meet the Queen at Dean Stanley's, in describing to us some of the conversation, he made us laugh by telling how, when he was lost in the misery of Galloway, that "he believed there was no finer or more beautiful drive in her kingdom than the one round the shore of the Stewartry, by gatehouse of Fleet," he got so absorbed in his subject that, in drawing his chair closer to the Queen, he at last became aware he had fixed it on her dress, and that she could not move till he withdrew it! Do you think I may say further (of course, Jonie), that Carlyle as a young man often went to my great-aunt's (Mrs. Church) in Dumfriesshire; and how she (Mrs. Church) told me that he considered has several times been the kindest and kindest women he her one of the most remarkable [illegible] had ever known. On one occasion while there he went to the little Cummertrees Church, where the then minister (as a joke sometimes called Dr. Davie Gillespie") used to speak his mind very plainly from the pulpit, and while preaching a sermon on "Youth and Beauty being laid in the grave," something tickled Carlyle, and he was seen to smile; upon which Mr. Gillespie stopped suddenly looked with a stern severity at Carlyle (who was sitting in my aunt's pew), and said, "Mistake me not, young man; it is youth alone that you possess." This was told to me (Joan) by an old cousin of mine who heard it, and was sitting next Carlyle at the time.

THE BREAKING OF THE OCEAN.

Mr. Ruskin, writing incidentally about what "Wandering Willie" in "Redgauntlet" calls "the roar of Solway," gives a fine description of the breaking of the ocean:—No other sound of the sea is for an instant comparable to the breaking of deep ocean, as it rises over great spaces of sand. In its rise and fall on a rocky coast it is either perfectly silent, or if it strike, it is with a crash, or a low like that of a heavy gun. Therefore, under ordinary conditions, there may be either splash, or crash or sigh, or boom; but not roar. But the hollow sound of the countless ranks of surfy breakers, rolling mile after mile in ceaseless following, every one of them with the apparent anger and threatening of a fate which is assured death unless fled from—the sound of this approach over quick-sands and into inextricable gulfs of mountain bay, this, heard far out at sea, or heard far inland, through the peace of secure night—or stormless day, is still an eternal voice, with the harmony in it of a mighty law, and the gloom of smortal warning.

Floriline!—For the Teeth and Breath.—A few drops of the liquid "Floriline" sprinkled on a wet tooth-brush produce a pleasant lather, which thoroughly cleanses the teeth from all parasites or impurities, hardens the gums, prevents tartar, stops decay, gives to the teeth a peculiar pearly whiteness and a delightful fragrance to the breath. It removes all unpleasant odour arising from decayed teeth or tobacco smoke. The "Fragrant Floriline," being composed in part of honey and sweet herbs, is delicious to the taste, and the greatest toilet discovery of the age. JUBILEE JUGGINS AND THE MONEY-LENDER.

Lord Justice Lopes, without a jury, on the 10th inst., heard the case Cochrane vs. Moore. The plaintiff was a money-lender in Jermyn-street, and he had advanced at various times sums of money which amounted to 10,000*l.* to Mr. Ernest Benzon, who was said of late to have been well-known in the racing world. Security for the advances was given upon some race-horses which were afterwards sold at Tattersall's and the plaintiff received some of his money back. One of the horses sold was a steeplechaser called Kilworth, and it realised 627*l.* 16*s.* Mr. Moore, a gentleman jockey, who had ridden for Mr. Benzon, claimed to be entitled to a one-fourth share in the horse, while the plaintiff claimed the whole of the money realised under the security for his advances. Messrs. Tattersall paid the money into court under an interpleader order, and the question now to be disposed of was which of the two parties was entitled to it. Mr. Cochrane, the plaintiff, was recalled to show that after the bill of sale had been given he paid various sums for Mr. Benzon in respect of training horses for forfeits, and for other matters. The amount in all was 862*l.* 6*s.* 3*d.*, and these payments had to be made before the horses could be sold. Mr. Kisch said that these figures showed that the plaintiff had suffered an actual money loss through his transactions with Mr. Benzon, which amounted to 600*l.*—In cross-examination the witness stated positively that Mr. Benzon knew that it was a bill of sale that he was giving, and that it was to be registered. He in fact offered to give three bills of sale—one upon the horses, one on his property at Binfield Park, and one on his furniture in Bond-street. Re-examined, the witness said Mr. Benzon had three loans of him after the bill of sale was given. Two of them had been repaid; but the third, which was for 360*l.*, had not been repaid. To complaint as to fraud or deceit in reference to the bill of sale was ever made before the writ was issued on November 1. Mr. Cooper, the plaintiff's solicitor, stated that on the 26th July he, in consequence of a message, went to the plaintiff's and there saw Mr. Benzon, who was to sign the bill of sale. The witness was about to read the document to him, but he said that he would read it himself. He read it through and signed it, and the witness attested the execution. The witness told him that it was a security for money—a bill of sale. Mr. Benzon said he hoped that it would not appear until Monday. The witness replied that it would not

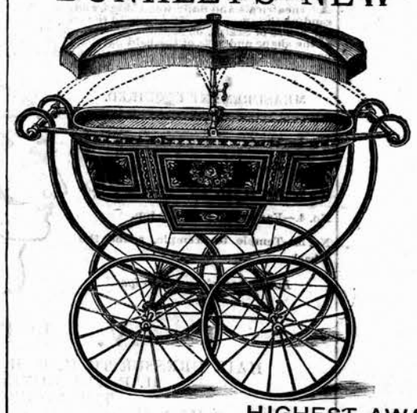
DUNKLEY'S NEW SUSPENSION PERAMBUCOT.
[PATENTED JULY, 1888.]



PRONOUNCED BY EMINENT MEDICAL MEN AS BEING
The EASIEST CARRIAGE in the WORLD!

THIS drawing only conveys in a faint degree the important and valuable advantage of this machine. It is gracefully suspended on four coiled springs from the sides of the body to the extended handles. Consequently when the Carriage is passing over kerbstones or any rough surface of the least kind, the springs are at once brought into play, and a gentle swinging up-and-down motion occurs. By this motion the most delicate infant receives the easiest form of nursing and riding combined which the mind can possibly conceive.

The Carriage is also fitted with an entirely new patent canopy, which can be adjusted to any angle. By a simple arrangement it can be placed at either side or either end.

THE LAND OF THE MIDNIGHT SUN

This Picture shows the Cod Fishing Fleet leaving the village of Brettennæs, Messrs. JENSEN & Co.'s Headquarters in the Hofoden Islands. To secure perfectly Fresh Livers, Messrs. JENSEN & Co. send a large vessel of 1,000 Tons Burthen out with the Boats. The Fish are put on board this floating factory as soon as they are caught. Their bodies are salted and sold as food in Roman Catholic Countries. The Offal dried makes Jensen's Manure, and the Livers are carefully washed and put at once into steam pans, in which the Oil is extracted. It is this promptness which gives JENSEN'S COD LIVER OIL its sweet, pleasant taste, and its wonderful digestive properties. The Oil as it exists in the cells of the Liver, when perfectly fresh, is clear and colourless; but if the Livers are allowed to lie they decompose, and the Oil acquires a nauseous taste, gradually becoming of a light brown colour.

The highest Medical authorities have acknowledged the services rendered by Messrs. JENSEN & Co. in enabling them to prescribe that most valuable cure for Debility in Children or Adults—Cod Liver Oil—without nauseating their patients. Sufferers from weak and impaired digestion find immediate relief directly they begin taking this Pure Oil. JENSEN'S COD LIVER OIL is now sold by most Stores in India in Capsuled Bottles, each bearing the Trade Mark—an Iceberg. The London prices are from 1s. upwards.

CHASSAING'S WINE
Bi-Digestive
with Pepsine & Diastase
for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Vomiting, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Consumption, Gastralgia, Loss of Appetite, Constipation.

* This preparation of wine is founded upon sound chemical and physiological principles. While pepsine is the natural solvent or digestive for nitrogenous aliments, it has little or no effect upon the feculent constituents which enter so largely into the composition of the food of man; and there is no doubt that some of the disorders of digestion arise from thereof assimilation of the starchy elements. Now the proper digestive for these is diastase; and in the bi-digestive wine, of M. Chassaing, these two most important principles, pepsine and diastase, are combined in suitable proportions. » — See THE LANCET, July 27 th, 1872.

FAVRE-LEUBA & CO.'S

CAMPAIGN WATCHES have obtained a wonderful popularity, resulting in numberless imitations, as is always the case with a reputed article. But, although each one of the latter claims to be the best in the market, none in reality is attaining such a high and well-deserved reputation in point of excellence, accuracy and durability as Favre-Leuba and Co.'s Original Campign Watches, sold as follows :—

IMPORTANT TO ALL.

ENO'S "FRUIT SALT"
is absolutely necessary for the preservation of Health.

YOU cannot overstate its great value in keeping the BLOOD PURE; as a means of keeping the system clear, and thus taking away the groundwork of Malarious Diseases, BLOOD POISONS, and all Liver Complaints, or as a HEALTH-GIVING, REFRESHING, COOLING, and INVIGORATING BEVERAGE, or as a gentle Laxative or Tonic in the various forms of Indigestion ENO'S "FRUIT SALT" is invaluable.

IT IS THE BEST PREVENTIVE AND CURE FOR

Biliousness.	Sick Headache.	Unnatural Excitement.
Mental Depression.	Giddiness.	Errors in Diet.
Skin Eruptions.	Liver Derangements.	Thirst, &c.
Constipation.	Feverishness.	Impure Blood.

A SPARKLING AND REFRESHING DRAUGHT.—Notwithstanding its medicinal value, the "FRUIT SALT" must be looked upon as essential as breathing fresh air, or as a simple and safe beverage under ALL CIRCUMSTANCES, and may be taken as a sparkling and refreshing draught in the same way as Lemonade, Soda Water, Potass Water, &c., only it is much cheaper and BETTER, IN EVERY SENSE OF THE TERM, TO AN UNLIMITED EXTENT.

HEALTHY BILE.—When the liver is not making healthy bile, or insufficient quantity, the blood becomes impure—the groundwork of disease, and produces constipation, dyspepsia, biliousness, headache, &c. ENO'S "FRUIT SALT" is the best remedy.

ENO'S "FRUIT SALT" versus BRANDY.—"There were a few attacks of mild dysentery, brought mainly on by ill-considered devotion to brandy, or biliousness produced by the same cause. For the latter we used ENO'S 'FRUIT SALT,' which is simply invaluable."—Coral Lands, Vol. I.

HOT COUNTRIES.—ACIDITY OF THE STOMACH, &c. "I have personally used ENO'S 'FRUIT SALT,' and know it not alone to be excellent, but really invaluable. Especially must this be the case in the hot countries of the East, where Acidity of the Stomach, Biliousness, and Fevers are so common."—J. M. PEEBLES, M.D., Author of Around the World, Travels in Polynesia, China, India, Arabia, Egypt, &c., &c.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS.—"A new invention is brought before the public, and commands success. A score of abominable imitations are immediately introduced by the unscrupulous, who, in copying the original closely enough to deceive the public, and yet not so exactly as to infringe upon legal rights, exercise an ingenuity that, employed in an original channel, could not fail to secure reputation and profit."—ADAMS.

CAUTION.—Legal Rights are protected in every civilised country. Examine each bottle and see that the Capsule is marked ENO'S "FRUIT SALT." Without it you have been imposed on by a WORTHLESS IMITATION. Sold by all Chemists, &c. Prepared only at

A Skin Without Blemish

EVERYWHERE a network of sudoriferic ducts, veins, and pores, the skin constantly renews itself, and not only with its ceaseless desquamation, but with its natural functional action, eliminates all waste, accumulation, and disease. Hence, a skin without blemish means more than beauty; it means health.

CUTICURA, the great skin cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite skin beautifier, prepared from it, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier, internally, cure every species of torturing, disfiguring, itching, scaly, and pimply diseases of the skin, scalp, and blood, with loss of hair, from pimples to scrofula.

My wife has been suffering from chronic eczema for two years. First we took advice from our local doctors, then she went to one in one of the first Skin Hospitals, and at last, being nearly "done up," she went to one of the most eminent physicians, but all in vain. She then determined to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and in one week after taking them she was able to walk and attend to her regular duties as lady of the house, and after the second week, I must say, there was no sign of eczema to be seen. W. P. W.
Full address of Messrs. NEWBERY.

Allow me to express to you my heartfelt thanks for the good which your CUTICURA REMEDIES have done me. I have suffered for the past three years of eczema of the hands and arms, and have endured a great amount of suffering, and expended untold sums of money on doctors, attending various skin hospitals, and also on remedies of one kind or another, but all to no purpose, as my arms got worse instead of better; in fact, they were perfectly loathsome to behold. At last I was persuaded by a lady friend of mine to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using three packages, the disease disappeared like magic.
ELIZABETH EDWARDS, Buckingham Road, N.

When I wrote you last year I was suffering with a very bad leg. It was swollen to more than twice its natural size, and broke out in four great sores, attended with most intense itching. Added to this, I had most dreadful attacks of sick headache. All my friends thought my work was done, when seeing CUTICURA REMEDIES advertised, I procured a set, which, I can thankfully say, quite cured my leg, and I have never had a sick headache since. Indeed, I was never better in my life than I am now. You are at liberty to make what use you like of this letter.

MEASUREMENT OF WIGS AND SCALPS.

I BEG to call the attention of my Customers for the system of measuring the Head for theatricals and daily wear Wigs, and, to ensure a perfect fit, I impress upon them the necessity of sending the exact sizes according to the following instructions. If contract is to be made for price, please enclose pattern and description, so as to ascertain the cost of the article.

"Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL contains the whole of the active ingredients of the remedy, and is easily digested. Hence its value, not only in Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, but in a great number of cases to which the Profession is extending its use."

DR. SAUNDERS, C.B.,

"I have used Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL extensively among the sick poor of St. Giles's, and consider it a valuable remedy, especially in the Wasting Diseases of Children."

DR. HUNTER SEMPLE,
Physician to the Hospital for Diseases of the Throat and Chest, London.
"I have long been aware of the great reputation enjoyed by the LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL introduced into medical practice by Dr. DE JONGH, and have recommended it with the utmost confidence. I have no hesitation in stating my opinion, that it possesses all the qualities of a good and efficient medicine. Its taste is by no means disagreeable, and might even be called pleasant. I have found Dr. DE JONGH'S OIL very useful in cases of Chronic Cough, and especially in Laryngeal Disease complicated with Consumption."

DR. WHITMORE

"My own observation lengthened experience as a Practitioner enables me with confidence to recommend Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, being more uniform in quality, more certain in its effects, more palatable, and infinitely less likely to disagree with the stomach than the Pale Oil. If I were asked to explain the marked success which has attended the administration of Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL, I would say that it is owing to its extraordinary medicinal and nutritive combination of the finest curative and restorative properties, and which are not to be found in any other medicine that I am acquainted with, in the same uniform combination."
